Psychology Personality Perception:

Personality Through Perception Herman A. Witkin, 1972      Issues in Person Perception Mark Cook, 2021-09-17

Life becomes difficult for the judges of others when they are presented with a number of facts about someone which all point in different directions or which point in no direction at all Originally published in 1984 this volume brings together research on four major issues involved in judging people the relationship between person perception and personality inference from multiple cues methodology of measuring accuracy of perception and selection for employment These issues are not only of increasing importance in the study of psychology today they are also of central relevance to social and business conduct This edited collection will be a valuable resource for the student of either      Personality and Person Perception Across Cultures Yueh-Ting Lee, Clark R. McCauley, Juris G. Draguns, 2013-05-13 Neither human nature nor personality can be independent of culture Human beings share certain social norms or rules within their cultural groups Over 2000 years ago Aristotle held that man is by nature a social animal Similarly Xun Kuang 298 238 B C a Chinese philosopher pointed out that humans in social groups can not function without shared guidance or rules This book is designed to provide readers with a perspective on how people are different from and similar to each other both within and across cultures One of its goals is to offer a practical guide for people preparing to interact with those whose cultural background is different from their own      Psychology Christian Jarrett, Joannah Ginsburg, 2014      Self-perception of character Julia Sinicyna, 2009-08-17 Seminar paper from the year 2009 in the subject Psychology Social Psychology grade 1 3 University of Cologne Wirtschafts und Sozialpsychologie course Seminar Self and Self Insight language English abstract Do you know who you are Can you accurately predict how you will behave in a certain situation What do you know about your character traits Research has shown that most people think they themselves know they character better than anyone else and could predict their future and daily behavior more accurately than anyone else Pronin Kruger Savitsky Vazire Mehl 2008 This sounds logical because a person has accumulated lots of information about himself as well as experience during his whole life and has privileged access to his feelings and thoughts But do these predictions correspond with the reality Or are there motives that deform our self evaluation In this term paper I will analyze how we perceive ourselves whether we accurately perceive our character traits and which factors influence our self evaluation      Perception, Motives, and Personality George Stuart Klein, 1970      The Roots of Perception U. Hentschel, G. Smith, J.G. Draguns, 1986-12-01 The subject matter of this book is subliminal perception and microgenetic perceptual processing two important topics on the interface between perception and personality It presents a different way of handling these topics biological in its emphasis on process humanistic in its focussing on the dynamics of individual experience The reader will not only find new theoretical perspectives but a host of new efficient and penetrating methods for analyzing problems of personality and psychopathology The book is filled with empirical data supporting its theoretical and methodological claims Main Features New perspectives on information processing in relation to personality

Letzring, Jana S. Spain, 2021-02-02 Learning about the process of accurate personality judgments can be used to help people understand when and how they are more likely to make accurate judgments This handbook offers a thorough evidence based and up to date review of this research field Perception and Personality Jerome Seymour Bruner, David Krech, 1968 Personality, Cognition and Social Interaction Nancy Cantor, John F. Kihlstrom, 2017-03-27 Originally published in 1981 this volume presents the domain of personality as a fuzzy set that includes features previously identified with cognitive and social psychology Few of the individual contributions are centrally concerned with individual differences and cross situational stability but these traditional themes certainly appear in several of the chapters The remaining chapters deal with the general processes mediating the interaction between the person and the social environment filling out the fuzzy set of personality psychology Part 1 seeks to locate contemporary trends in the cognitive psychology of personality against a backdrop of historical events The chapters in Part 2 discuss some of the cognitive processes mediating social behaviour Part 3 contains contributions concerned with the rules by which people make judgments about objects in the social world The self a dominant topic in personality theory and research is treated extensively in Part 4 Although many of the chapters are explicitly concerned with the relations between cognition and action after all most human interaction takes the form of judgments and communication the contributions in Part 5 make the links to overt behaviour Finally Part 6 offers two discussions of the previous contributions from the perspective of cognitive psychology Blackwell Handbook of Social Psychology Garth J. O. Fletcher, Margaret S. Clark, 2008-05-12 This authoritative handbook provides a cutting edge overview of classic and current research as well as an assessment of future trends in the field of interpersonal processes Ensures thorough and up to date coverage of all aspects of interpersonal processes Includes contributions by academics and other experts from around the world to ensure a truly international perspective Provides a comprehensive overview of classic and current research and likely future trends Fully referenced chapters and annotated bibliographies allow easy access to further study Now available in full text online via xreferplus the award winning reference library on the web from xrefer For more information visit www.xreferplus.com Personality in Speech Tim Polzehl, 2014-08-30 This work combines interdisciplinary knowledge and experience from research fields of psychology linguistics audio processing machine learning and computer science The work systematically explores a novel research topic devoted to automated modeling of personality expression from speech For this aim it introduces a novel personality assessment questionnaire and presents the results of extensive labeling sessions to annotate the speech data with personality assessments It provides estimates of the Big 5 personality traits i e openness conscientiousness extroversion agreeableness and neuroticism Based on a database built on the questionnaire the book presents models to tell apart different personality types or classes from speech automatically      Personality and Situational Influences in Person Perception and Social Cognition Victor Anthony Battistich, 1979      Personality Judgment David C. Funder, 1999-08-16 Accuracy in judging personality is important in clinical assessment applied settings and everyday life Personality judgments are important in assessing job candidates choosing friends and determining who we can trust and rely on in our personal lives Thus the accuracy of those judgments is important to both individuals and organizations In examining personality judgment Personality Judgment takes a sweeping look at the field s history assumptions and current research findings The book explores the construct of traits within the person situation debate defends the human judge in the face of the fundamental attribution error and discusses research on four categories of moderators in judgment the good judge the judgeable target the trait being judged and the information on which the judgment is based Spanning two decades of accuracy research this book makes clear not only how personality judgment has come to its current standing but also where it may move in the future Covers 20 years worth of historical current and future trends in personality judgment Includes discussions of debatable issues related to accuracy and error The author is well known for his recently developed theory of the process by which one person may render an accurate judgment of the personality traits of another      Allgemeine Psychologie auf personalistischer Grundlage William Stern, 1950      Perceiving Others Mark Cook, 2021-09-30 Originally published in 1979 Perceiving Others is an excellent short introduction to the area of social psychology known as person perception social perception or impression formation how people interpret each others moods predict each others behaviour and sum up each others characters The way people see each other determines the way they behave towards each other making the study of person perception essential to the understanding of social behaviour Mark Cook poses three questions about how people form opinions of others what are the processes involved what information is used and how and how accurate are they He provides an answer to these questions in the three main sections of the book giving a comprehensive survey of the theory and research arising from the issues involved The topics covered include the meaning of trait descriptions intuition social skill and non verbal communication the impression formation paradigm stereotypes implicit personality theories attribution theory Cronbach s components and psychiatric diagnosis By drawing many of his illustrations from everyday encounters the author effectively bridges the gap between theory and reality to create a thoroughly readable and comprehensible study      Person Perception and Attribution Hans-Werner Bierhoff, 2012-12-06 Person perception is of great importance in everyday life and human science Judgment of other people s characteristics and intentions is important for successfully planning actions within a social environment Questions about the formation of impressions and causal attributions are central to social psychology and the study of diagnostic judgment formation The field of person perception deals with questions of how impression formation proceeds what characteristics and intentions are attributed to other people and how preformed schemata and stereotypes influence people s first impressions Research on person perception developed rapidly after the Second World War In the 1950s the precision and accuracy of person perception received special interest but the problems concerning whether an individual's assessment of another personality is exact or not could not be solved Another approach which began in the 1940s and was derived from the Gestalt psychological tradition dealt with impression formation based on selected social cues This approach which proved to be very useful had considerable influence on both the research methods and the theoretical orientation of the research work On the one hand by using a combination of individual cues like physical characteristics researchers tried to ascertain how an impression of a person was formed On the other hand the Gestalt psychological orientation led to an interest in the process of person perception which in the last 10 years has concentrated on questions concerning information reception and processing

Personality Through Perception Herman A. Witkin, H. B. Lewis, Max Hertzman, Karen Machover, P. Bretnall Meissner, Seymour Wapner, 1954      Perception and Personality Barbara A. Eriksen, Charles W. Eriksen, 1972      Concepts of Personality Joseph M. Wepman, Ralph W. Heine, 2008-09-01 The psychologist who pursues an interest in personality is constantly faced by a dilemma He seeks to investigate what is to him the most intriguing and interesting subject the multifaceted operations of man in his natural environment The predicament lies in the discrepancy between the complexity and richness of man's subjective experience and the pallid analog of these experiences the psychologist is able to study effectively with the research procedures available to him In Concepts of Personality Joseph M Wepman and Ralph W Heine offer a comprehensive survey of classical and contemporary personality theory including a wide array of examples of these two trends If the psychologist holds to the premises of strict objectivity through controlled observations he finds himself driven to the periphery of the very problem he seeks to understand This is a place where the reliability of measurement and the validity and predictability of his instruments can often be specified but only at the cost of abandoning the goal of useful generality or of application to the individual in his ordinary life circumstances Concepts of Personality unlike most books on the subject is not limited to broad general theories It includes chapters on basic processes learning perception genetics and drive theory on the major analytical approaches of psychology and psychiatry on anthropological and sociological contributions and on the problems of measurement and assessment Each chapter is by an authority on the point of view expressed The editors' introduction itself a major essay on the complex and divergent patterns and themes of contemporary views of personality carefully leads the reader through the information at hand The book as a whole constitutes an encyclopedic summary of the state of the science Joseph M Wepman was professor of psychology and surgery and chairman of the Interdepartmental Clinical and Counseling Psychology Training Program of the University of Chicago He is the author of Recovering from Aphasia and Aphasia and the Family Ralph W Heine was professor of psychiatry and psychology and chief clinical psychologist in the department of psychiatry at the University of Chicago He is the author of The Student Physician as Psychotherapist and Psychotherapy
