Shame Management Through Reintegration:

Shame Management Through Reintegration Eliza Ahmed, 2001-10-15 This 2001 book is a follow on to John Braithwaite's best selling and influential Crime Shame and Reintegration. Shame management is becoming a central concept in theoretical and practical terms. This book makes a major contribution to the advancement of shame in a theoretical sense. For criminology as well as for psychology, sociology and other areas, this accessible book serves as an introduction to the concepts of shame, guilt and embarrassment. Presenting research by the Restorative Justice Centre at the Australian National University, the book contributes immeasurably to the development of practical alternatives to common sanctions in an effort to reduce crime and other social problems. Written by the key exponents of restorative justice, the book is an important re-statement of the theory and practice of shaming. It will develop important and often controversial debates about punishment, shaming and restorative justice to a new level. Repositioning Restorative Justice Lode Walgrave, 2012-12-06

Restorative justice has become an increasingly important element in reform and change to criminal justice systems throughout the western world and there are many reasons for satisfaction with the progress that has been made from the point of view of victims, offenders, the level and incidence of reoffending and in terms of public opinion. At the same time there has been cause for concern, not least to do with the confusion of aims that has accompanied the rapid spread of restorative justice practices, an over estimate of its possibilities, a blurring of concepts and a lack of attention to legal rights and processes. This book, based on papers presented at the 5th international conference held at Leuven, Belgium in 2002, aims to provide an overview of recent experience of restorative justice in the light of these concerns. The central theme is the positioning or repositioning of restorative justice in contexts where it can offer hope to communities both fearful of crime and looking for more socially constructive responses to crime. At the same time, restorative justice practitioners seek definition in relation to the kinds of crime it is appropriate to apply restorative justice to, how it relates to different forms of punishment, to rehabilitation and how it fits in with criminal justice systems and the law of different countries, how to reconcile the informal participatory philosophy of restorative justice with formal legal processes and the need for legal safeguards.

Encyclopedia of Victimology and Crime Prevention Bonnie S. Fisher, Steven P. Lab, 2010-02-02 Victimology and crime prevention are growing interrelated areas cutting across several disciplines. Victimology examines victims of all sorts of criminal activity from domestic abuse to street violence to victims in the workplace who lose jobs and pensions due to malfeasance by corporate executives. Crime prevention is an important companion to victimology because it offers insight and techniques to prevent situations that lead to crime and attempts to offer ideas and means for mitigating or minimizing the potential for victimization. In many ways the two fields have developed along parallel yet separate paths and the literature on both has been scattered across disciplines as varied as sociology, law and criminology, public health and medicine, political science and public policy, economics, psychology and human services and more. The Encyclopedia of Victimology and Crime

Prevention provides a comprehensive reference work bringing together such dispersed knowledge as it outlines and discusses the status of victims within the criminal justice system and topics of deterring and preventing victimization in the first place and responding to victims needs Two volumes containing approximately 375 signed entries provide users with the most authoritative and comprehensive reference resource available on victimology and crime prevention both in terms of breadth and depth of coverage In addition to standard entries leading scholars in the field have contributed Anchor Essays that in broad strokes provide starting points for investigating the more salient victimology and crime prevention topics A representative sampling of general topic areas covered includes interpersonal and domestic violence child maltreatment and elder abuse street violence hate crimes and terrorism treatment of victims by the media courts police and politicians community response to crime victims physical design for crime prevention victims of nonviolent crimes deterrence and prevention helping and counseling crime victims international and comparative perspectives and more

Emotions, Crime and Justice Susanne Karstedt, Ian Loader, Heather Strang, 2011-04-01 The return of emotions to debates about crime and criminal justice has been a striking development of recent decades across many jurisdictions This has been registered in the return of shame to justice procedures a heightened focus on victims and their emotional needs fear of crime as a major preoccupation of citizens and politicians and highly emotionalised public discourses on crime and justice But how can we best make sense of these developments Do we need to create emotionally intelligent justice systems or are we messing recklessly with the rational foundations of liberal criminal justice This volume brings together leading criminologists and sociologists from across the world in a much needed conversation about how to re calibrate reason and emotion in crime and justice today The contributions range from the micro analysis of emotions in violent encounters to the paradoxes and tensions that arise from the emotionalisation of criminal justice in the public sphere They explore the emotional labour of workers in police and penal institutions the justice experiences of victims and offenders and the role of vengeance forgiveness and regret in the aftermath of violence and conflict resolution The result is a set of original essays which offer a fresh and timely perspective on problems of crime and justice in contemporary liberal democracies

Conflict & Collusion in Sierra Leone David Keen, 2005 The United Nations presence in Sierra Leone has made that country a subject of international attention to an unprecedented degree Once identified as a source of the New Barbarism it has also become a proving ground for Western interventions in the war against terrorism The conventional diplomatic approach to Sierra Leone's civil war is that it has been a contest between two clearly defined sides Keen demonstrates this is not the case the various armed groups were fractured throughout the 1990s often colluded with one another and had little interest in bringing the war to an end This book is not only a comprehensive description and novel interpretation of events in Sierra Leone it represents a new and innovative approach to the study of war and Third World development and politics generally

Demystifying Crime and Criminal Justice Robert M. Bohm, Jeffery T. Walker, 2006 Bohm and Walker's thought provoking volume addresses many of the American public's misconceptions about crime and criminal justice These understandings are often inaccurate and based on myths Each of this anthology's 27 chapters demystifies or debunks one of these current myths setting the record straight DEMYSTIFYING CRIME AND CRIMINAL JUSTICE is organized to follow a logical progression through the criminal justice process Part One addresses myths about crime Part Two examines myths about law enforcement Part Three investigates myths about the administration of justice and Part Four focuses on myths about punishment and corrections A unique feature of the book is that every chapter follows the same format Each chapter opens with a brief section introducing a myth or a set of myths about a particular topic Next follows the Kernel of Truth section which identifies accurate aspects of the myth or myths The authors assume that for myths to be believable and accepted they usually must contain at least a kernel of truth In the third section The Truth or Facts the authors debunk the myth or myths by providing evidence This is followed by Interests Served by the Myth which illuminates how the interests of specific individuals or groups are promoted by the creation and perpetuation of the myth or myths Finally Policy Implications of Belief in the Myth highlights some of the practical and often undesirable consequences of belief in the myth or myths Written in clear accessible language DEMYSTIFYING CRIME AND CRIMINAL JUSTICE engages the reader with straightforward analysis cutting edge information and research Designed to stimulate critical thinking and class discussion this mindset challenging volume offers students a deeper understanding of crime and criminal justice
