Random Functions and Hydrology Rafael L. Bras, Ignacio Rodríguez-Iturbe, 1993-01-01 Advanced level view of the tools of random processes and field theory as applied to the analysis and synthesis of hydrologic phenomena Topics include time series analysis optimal estimation optimal interpolation Kriging frequency domain analysis of signals and linear systems theory Techniques and examples chosen to illustrate the latest advances in hydrologic signal analysis Useable as graduate level text in water resource systems stochastic hydrology random processes and signal analysis 202 illustrations

System-Theoretical Modelling in Surface Water Hydrology Alexander Lattermann, 2012-12-06 Modelling of hydrological rainfall runoff processes is facilitated by the application of the systemtheoretical approach to linear nonlinear and stochastic models To this purpose the variables involved in methods for determining areal precipitation and baseflow separation are discussed The convolution theorem in the theory of linear systems and the mathematical transform technique Laplace Z transformation are used to identify characteristics of the watershed and simulate hydrological processes To support the calculation of model output functions computer programs are included in the text This volume is suitable as a text for hydrology courses at universities or engineering academies Coupled Models for the Hydrological Cycle Axel

Bronstert, Jesus Carrera, Pavel Kabat, Sabine Lütkeemeier, 2005-08-29 Hydrologists climatologists soil scientists and environmental engineers are frequently asked to analyse complex environmental problems It is becoming increasingly apparent that these problems usually involve feedbacks between atmospheric ecological and hydrological systems as well as human society It is often the feedbacks between systems that are of greatest interest because they may produce unanticipated responses That is why coupling of different compartments of the Earth system has emerged as a general challenge to the modelling community This book considers an array of state of the art coupling and modelling concepts First the relevant Earth system cycles are presented followed by a discussion on scale issues and multiple equilibria Inter and intra compartmental coupling is addressed along with a debate on non linearities and questions of parameterisation Several applications are presented where a focus is on cases where the hydrological cycle plays a central role Statistical
