Fiber Crops Khaled F. M. Salem,Jameel M. Al-Khayri,Shri Mohan Jain,2025-10-13 The basic concept of this book is to study the use of both innovative and conventional plant breeding methods to develop new varieties of leaf fruit and seed fiber crops under different environmental conditions for sustainable fiber production The book covers 14 genera including Musa Agave Trifolium Phoenix Hyphaene Ananas Metroxylon Arenga Yucca Citrus Cocos Elaeis Gossypium and Ceiba Chapters are written by internationally respected scholars and go through a review process to ensure quality presentation and scholarly accuracy Each chapter begins with an introduction covering relevant backgrounds and provides an in depth discussion of the topic supported by high quality color photographs illustrations and relevant data The chapter concludes with recommendations for future research directions and a comprehensive list of relevant references to facilitate further reading The book will be an excellent reference resource for breeders involved in fiber crop breeding programs that involve biotechnology and molecular tools alongside conventional breeding It is suitable for both undergraduate and advanced graduate students majoring in agriculture biotechnology and molecular breeding Top 100 Exotic Food Plants Ernest

Small,2011-08-23 Many edible plants considered exotic in the Western world are actually quite mainstream in other cultures While some of these plants are only encountered in ethnic food markets or during travels to foreign lands many are now finding their way onto supermarket shelves Top 100 Exotic Food Plants provides comprehensive coverage of tropical and semi Smallholders and Stockbreeders P. Boomgaard,David E.F. Henley,2021-11-15 Historians of Southeast Asia have traditionally preferred to write about politics and culture rather than economics and ecology and where they have looked at the history of agriculture they have most often concentrated on cash crops like sugar coffee and rubber which figure prominently in colonial records Smallholders and stockbreeders by contrast provides a rare survey of the history of foodcrop farming and a unique look at the history of animal husbandry in the Southeast Asian region Thirteen contributions by an international selection of expert authors cover topics ranging from the agricultural economy of precolonial Java to the growth of rice production in the Mekong Delta since 1950 and from the breeding of horses on the northern borderlands of mainland Southeast Asia to the production and consumption of beef in the Philippines New light is shed on old questions regarding the directions in which Southeast Asian agriculture has evolved over the centuries and new questions raised regarding the cultural demographic economic and political determinants of farming practices While the geographical and chronological scales of analysis vary most chapters deal with relatively large areas and with developments over periods of 100 years or more Besides production for subsistence commercial aspects of livestock and foodcrop farming are also given due attention and prove to have been important in many parts of the region from very early periods Smallholders and stockbreeders is essential reading for anyone interested in the agricultural history of Southeast Asia whether for its own sake or in connection with other aspects of regional history or for purposes of comparison with other parts of the world Palm Sago ,2003

Encyclopedia of Cultivated Plants Christopher Cumo,2013-04-25 Readers of this expansive three volume encyclopedia will gain scientific sociological and demographic insight into the complex relationship between plants and humans across history Comprising three volumes and approximately half a million words this work is likely the most comprehensive reference of its kind providing detailed information not only about specific plants and food crops such as barley corn potato rice and wheat but also interdisciplinary content that draws on the natural sciences social sciences and humanities The entries underscore the fascination that humans have long held for plants identifies the myriad reasons why much of life on earth would be impossible without plants and points out the intertwined relationship of plants and humans and how delicate this balance can be While the majority of the content is dedicated to the food plants that are essential to human existence material on ornamentals fiber crops pharmacological plants and carnivorous plants is also included The Cambridge World History of Food Kenneth F. Kiple,Kriemhild Coneè Ornelas,2000 A two volume set which traces the history of food and nutrition from the beginning of human life on earth through the present Arbeiten aus dem Institut für Völkerkunde der Universität zu Göttingen ,1990 Holistic Anthropology David Parkin,Stanley Ulijaszek,2011 Given the broad reach of anthropology as the science of humankind there are times when the subject fragments into specialisms and times when there is rapprochement Rather than just seeing them as reactions to each other it is perhaps better to say that both tendencies co exist and that it is very much a matter of perspective as to which is dominant at any moment The perspective adopted by the contributors to this volume is that some anthropologists have over the last decade or so been paying considerable attention to developments in the study of social and biological evolution and of material culture and that this has brought social material cultural and biological anthropologists closer to each other and closer to allied disciplines such as archaeology and psychology A more eclectic anthropology once characteristic of an earlier age is thus re emerging The new holism does not result from the merging of sharply distinguished disciplines but from among anthropologists themselves who see social organization as fundamentally a problem of human ecology and from that of material and mental creativity human biology and the co evolution of society and culture It is part of a wider interest beyond anthropology in the origins and rationale of human activities claims and beliefs and draws on inferential or speculative reasoning as well as hard evidence The book argues that while usefully borrowing from other subjects all such reasoning must be grounded in prolonged intensive and linguistically informed fieldwork and comparison Sagonutzung auf Neuguinea Eva Raabe,Eva Ch Raabe,1990 The Sago Palm M.
