Pleasure Pavilions And Follies In The Gardens Of The Ancient Regime:

Pleasure Pavilions and Follies in the Gardens of the Ancien Régime Bernd H. Dams, Andrew Zega, 1995 Many of these buildings have been destroyed or severely altered and the only records that survive are the drawings engravings architectural plans and more rarely paintings of the period

Unnatural Horizons Allen S. Weiss, 1998 Unnatural Horizons presents a selective history of the last five centuries of landscape architecture at the intersection of poetics and science rhetoric and technology and philosophy and politics It investigates the relations between garden aesthetics and metaphysics discussing issues similar to those raised by Weiss's critically acclaimed Mirrors of Infinity The Western garden has always served as a setting for music dance theater sculpture and architecture as well as the minor arts of meditative contemplation and erotic seduction The history of landscape architecture is therefore inextricable from the histories of the other arts and must be studied from an interdisciplinary and polycultural point of view Some of the topics included in this book are the influence of neo Platonic philosophy on the Italian Renaissance garden erotic fantasies and the 18th century libertine garden the contrast between Thoreau's romantic notion of virgin nature and changes in perception due to increasing speed and mechanization and the limits of landscape architecture as art form in 20th century gardens

Fairy Machines Emily Jane Cohen, 2001 The City's Pleasures Shirine Hamadeh, 2008 The City's Pleasures is the first historical investigation of the tremendous changes that affected the fabric and architecture of Istanbul in the century that followed the decisive return of the Ottoman court to the capital in 1703 These were spectacular times that witnessed the most extraordinary urban expansion and building explosion in the history of the city Showing how architecture and urban form became involved in the representation and construction of a changing social order Shirine Hamadeh reassesses the dominance of the paradigm of Westernization in interpretations of this period and challenges the suggestion that change in the eighteenth century could only occur by turning toward a now superior West Drawing on a genre of Ottoman poetry written in celebration of the built environment and on a vast array of related textual and visual sources Hamadeh demonstrates that architectural change was the result of a dynamic synthesis between internal and external factors and closely mirrored the process of cloisonnement of the city's social landscape Examining novel forms spaces and decorative vocabularies changing patterns of patronage and new patterns of architectural perception The City's Pleasures shows how these exposed and reinforced the internal dynamics that were played out between a society in flux and a state anxious to recreate an ideal system of social hierarchies Profoundly hybrid in nature the new architectural idiom reflected a growing permeability between elite and middle class sensibilities an unprecedented degree of receptivity to Western and Eastern foreign traditions and a clear departure from the parameters of the classical canon Innovation became the new operative doctrine As the built environment was experienced perceived and appreciated by contemporary observers it increasingly revealed itself as a perpetual source of sensory pleasures TLS, the Times Literary Supplement ,1995
