Realm Of Possibilities Wolfgang Hildesheimers Non Traditional Non Fictional Prose:

Prosa des Absurden Dieter Hoffmann, 2006 Historical Dictionary of Postwar German Literature William Grange, 2009-07-09 Some authors strongly criticized attempts to rebuild a German literary culture in the aftermath of World War II while others actively committed themselves to dealing with the German past There are writers in Austria and Switzerland that find other contradictions of contemporary life troubling while some find them funny or even worth celebrating German postwar literature has in the minds of some observers developed a kind of split personality In view of the traumatic monstrosities of the previous century that development may seem logical to some The Historical Dictionary of Postwar German Literature is devoted to modern literature produced in the German language whether from Germany Austria Switzerland or writers using German in other countries This volume covers an extensive period of time beginning in 1945 at what was called zero hour for German literature and proceeds into the 21st century concluding in 2008 This is done through a list of acronyms and abbreviations a chronology an introductory essay a bibliography and hundreds of cross referenced dictionary entries on writers such as Nobel Prize winners Heinrich Böll Gert Grunow Grass Elias Canetti Elfriede Jelinek and W G Sebald There are also entries on individual works genres movements literary styles and forms The Realm of Possibilities Patricia H. Stanley, 1988-10-21 To find more information on Rowman Littlefield titles please visit us at www.rowmanlittlefield.com Encrypting the Past Kirstin Gwyer, 2014-09-11 Encrypting the Past puts forward the interpretative category of the first generation German Jewish Holocaust novel and examines its representational strategies With reference to works by H G Adler Jenny Aloni Elisabeth Augustin Erich Fried and Wolfgang Hildesheimer and a concluding section on W G Sebald it shows how Holocaust literature was being written decades before postwar authors such as Sebald were credited with having found new ways of reflecting the unspeakable It demonstrates that before the theoretical debate over the fundamental representability of the Holocaust was even fully under way first generation authors were already translating un narratable trauma into a literary strategy of un narrating a strategy of encrypting the Holocaust into the form and structure of their texts The implications of treating these writers as a set and their body of work as a hitherto unacknowledged category of Holocaust fiction go well beyond drawing attention to a number of important but critically neglected authors This study frames the analysis of first generation narrative strategies in the broader debate on the ethics and aesthetics of Holocaust writing In revealing how certain kinds of testimony have been privileged above others in international Holocaust studies it raises questions of a more general nature concerning canon formation and our theoretical responses to the Holocaust In considering foremost among these responses the theory of deconstruction and trauma theory it finally invites a re examination of the relationship between the post modern and trauma Learning from Lying Julia Luisa Abramson, 2005 Learning from Lying narrates a new literary history as seen through the lens of mystification Beginning with an examination of mystification s elaboration during the century of Enlightenment the book accounts for mystification s distinctiveness relative to other deceptive forms particularly forgery and provides a timely intervention in current debates about the study of fakes Readings of works by Denis Diderot Prosper Merimee and Wolfgang Hildesheimer follow out the cosmopolitan roots of the genre in the Republic of Letters and show how it theorizes literature through practical experiment For when textual imitation is revealed it unveils the necessary collusion between reader and writer that allows literature to exist as such
