Reappraising The Munich Pact:

Reappraising the Munich Pact Maya Latynski, 1992-05 Reappraising the Munich Pact brings the other players back onto the stage by examining German French and Soviet policies before during and after the pact Reappraising the Munich Pact Maya Latynski, Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars, 1992 The Munich Pact signed by Britain France Germany and Italy on September 30 1938 agreed to the Nazi army's occupation of the Sudetenland in Czechoslovakia without so much as a diplomatic word to that country's government Six months later the German army crossed the recently truncated frontier and Czechoslovakia ceased to exist as an independent state British and French guarantees of Polish independence quickly followed but came too late to prevent the Nazi attack on Poland on September 1 1939 Great Britain was obliged to declare war and the Second World War had begun Up to now scholars' treatment of the Munich Pact focused on British policy either moralistically criticizing the ill advised diplomacy of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain or reassessing the British role in view of the limitations imposed by a fragile economy Reappraising the Munich Pact brings the other players back onto the stage by examining German French and Soviet policies before during and after the pact The authors also trace the evolution of the pact's postwar historiography in Czechoslovakia and Poland The Munich Pact has become an international metaphor both used and abused for failed Western agreements with dictatorial regimes Reappraising the Munich Pact offers a close look at the complexity of this fateful moment in history after a half century of historical analysis The contributors are Gerhard Weinberg John Dreifort and Michael Kraus on the German French and Soviet perspectives and Joseph Zacek and Anna Cienciala on the Czechoslovak and Polish points of view MUNICH Hannah Hohenstein-Flack, 2015 On September 30 1938 the leaders of Britain France Germany and Italy signed an agreement detailing the procedure by which territory would be transferred from Czechoslovakia to Germany Known as the Munich Agreement that document is remembered not for the changes that it effected they were not lasting but for the swiftness with which its terms were broken On the morning of March 15 1939 German forces occupied what remained of Czechoslovakia thus negating Hitler's repeated assertions that he sought only justice for repressed German minorities within neighboring states The Four Powers negotiated solution failed to secure peace for Europe and that failure has since come to encompass appeasement the policy under whose auspices the agreement was pursued In this essay I reconsider the predominant historical narrative regarding Great Britain's actions in the 1930s I then evaluate the uses to which the Munich analogy has been put to interpret the ongoing Ukrainian crisis Reappraisals and New Studies of the Modern Jewish Experience Brian Smollett, Christian Wiese, 2014-10-30 Reappraisals and New Studies of the Modern Jewish Experience brings together twenty scholars of Modern Jewish history and thought The essays provide a fresh perspective on several central questions in Jewish intellectual social and religious history from the eighteenth century to the present in the contexts of Russia Western and Central Europe and the Americas Das Deutsche Reich im Urteil der grossen Mächte und europäischen Nachbarn
