Reason And Revelation In Middle Ages:

God and Reason in the Middle Ages Edward Grant, 2001-07-30 Between 1100 and 1600 the emphasis on reason in the learning and intellectual life of Western Europe became more pervasive and widespread than ever before in the history of human civilization. Of crucial significance was the invention of the university around 1200 within which reason was institutionalized and where it became a deeply embedded permanent feature of Western thought and culture. It is therefore appropriate to speak of an Age of Reason in the Middle Ages and to view it as a forerunner and herald of the Age of Reason that was to come in the seventeenth century. The object of this study is twofold: to describe how reason was manifested in the curriculum of medieval universities especially in the subjects of logic, natural philosophy and theology; and to explain how the Middle Ages acquired an undeserved reputation as an age of superstition, barbarism and unreason. Reason and Revelation in the Middle Ages Etienne Gilson, 1938 Etienne Gilson, French historian and philosopher, was born in 1884. Member of the French Academy and Director of the Institute of Medieval Studies at Toronto, he is the author of among many brilliant works: The Spirit of Medieval Philosophy and The Unity of Philosophical Experience. Reason and Revelation in the Middle Ages Etienne Gilson, 1964 Reason in Science and Beyond Małgorzata Czarnocka, 2025-10-29 Science often claims to apply reason and act rationally. However, the understanding of reason and rationality might be different and is not always transparent. Based on extensive analysis of existing concepts, Czarnocka offers a new concept of scientific reason. She shows that scientific reason is methodical and not instrumental, and its basic forms are universal, i.e. they determine rules of cognition and action in all the human experience. She also argues that methodical reason grows out of subjective reason and ultimately from objective anthropic reason, i.e. from the foundations of human collective wisdom as well as from ontic reason. The author claims that there is a three-layer hierarchy of reasons linked by the relation of conditioning. Methodical reason is conditioned by subjective reason, and this in turn is conditioned by the deepest layer which includes two objective reasons: anthropic reason and ontic reason. Moreover, she reveals that the problem of reason in science is not an isolated problem of science itself but is related to issues of human nature and of culture as well as the problems of collective human wisdom and ontic nature of reality. Roman Catholic Political Philosophy James V. Schall, 2006-08-01 In Roman Catholic Political Philosophy, author James V. Schall tries to demonstrate that Roman Catholicism and political philosophy, revelation and reason are not contradictory. It is his contention that political philosophy, the primary focus of the book, asks certain questions about human purpose and destiny that it cannot by itself answer. Revelation is the natural complement to these important questions about God, human being and the world. Schall manages to avoid polemicism or triumphalism as he shows that revelation and political thought contribute to a fuller understanding of each other. A Thomistic Tapestry, 2021-12-28 This book, written by well-known students of Etienne Gilson and especially dedicated to Armand A. Maurer, helps inaugurate a long overdue special series in philosophy honoring Gilson's legendary scholarship. It presents wide-ranging expositions of Thomist realism.
