Rebellion in a High School Arthur L. Stinchcombe, 1969 Social Sources of Rebellion in a High School Arthur L. Stinchcombe, 1960 Rebellion in a High School Arthur L. Stinchcombe, 1964 The Logic of Social Research Arthur L. Stinchcombe, 2005-07 Arthur L. Stinchcombe has earned a reputation as a leading practitioner of methodology in sociology and related disciplines Throughout his distinguished career he has championed the idea that to be an effective sociologist one must use many methods This incisive work introduces students to the logic of those methods The Logic of Social Research orients students to a set of logical problems that all methods must address to study social causation Almost all sociological theory asserts that some social conditions produce other social conditions but the theoretical links between causes and effects are not easily supported by observation Observations cannot directly show causation but they can reject or support causal theories with different degrees of credibility As a result sociologists have created four main types of methods that Stinchcombe terms quantitative historical ethnographic and experimental to support their theories Each method has value and each has its uses for different research purposes Accessible and astute The Logic of Social Research offers an image of what sociology is what it is all about and what the craft of the sociologist consists of Historical Catalogue of the Dedham High School, Teachers and Students, 1851-1889 Dedham (Mass.). High school, 1889 The Rise of American High School Sports and the Search for Control Robert Pruter, 2013-08-29 Nearly half of all American high school students participate in sports teams With a total of 7.6 million participants as of 2008 this makes the high school sports program in America the largest organized sports program in the world Pruter's work traces the history of high school sports from the student led athletic clubs of the 1800s through to the establishment of educator control of high school sports under a national federation by the 1930s Pruter's research serves not only to highlight this rich history but also to provide new perspectives on how high school sports became the arena by which Americans fought for some of the most contentious issues in society such as race immigration and Americanization gender roles religious conflict the role of the military in democracy and the commercial exploitation of our youth Disruption in High School Classrooms Leslie La Hugh Gardner, 1969 A History of the Class of 1854 in Dartmouth College Dartmouth College.
