

Scene 1

[KANGAROO, WOMBAT and KOOKABURRA are sitting on stage in different places. A plain-looking LIZARD sits towards the front of the stage. PLATYPUS skips onto the stage, pirouetting and stopping every now and then to preen himself and admire his reflection in the water.]

NARRATOR: Long, long ago, when the earth was new and animals newly made, there lived a handsome creature called Platypus. He was half bird, half mammal. He had the beak of a bird and the feet of a graceful bird.

His face was exquisite, with large soft eyes. He had long soft fur that shimmered and shone with all the colours of the rainbow. His body was roly-poly round and his tail long and exceedingly bushy.

PLATYPUS: [Looking at LIZARD pitifully] No other animal has my rainbow fur, my delicate beak, my dainty feet. Oh, and my beautiful eyes! How handsome am I! I'm so cool.

NARRATOR: Some days, he craved the company of other animals. Not because he was lonely, oh no, but because he wanted to hear them tell how good looking he was – and to criticise them.

PLATYPUS: [Looking at WOMBAT] Wombat, don't you wish you had my gorgeous tail?

WOMBAT: Well, Platypus, if I had your tail, which is indeed gorgeous, I would have to dig a much longer entrance to my burrow to accommodate it.

PLATYPUS: [Turning to face KANGAROO] Kangaroo, your legs are far too large for your body. Wouldn't you look better with my fine limbs?

KANGAROO: Your legs are indeed the envy of all, but don't you see that I need big legs to jump the way I do? [Jumps away, angrily]

Playscript Interpretation And Production:

Playscript Interpretation and Production Gerald Lee Ratliff, 1985 Interpreting the Play Script Anne Fliotsos, 2011-08-17 One type of analysis cannot fit every play nor does one method of interpretation suit every theatre artist or collaborative team This is the first text to combine traditional and non traditional models giving students a range of tools with which to approach different kinds of performance Interpreting Chekhov Geoffrey Borny, 2006-08-01 The author's contention is that Chekhov's plays have often been misinterpreted by scholars and directors particularly through their failure to adequately balance the comic and tragic elements inherent in these works Through a close examination of the form and content of Chekhov's dramas the author shows how deeply pessimistic or overly optimistic interpretations fail to sufficiently account for the rich complexity and ambiguity of these plays The author suggests that by accepting that Chekhov's plays are synthetic tragicomedies which juxtapose potentially tragic subtexts with essentially comic texts critics and directors are more likely to produce richer and more deeply satisfying interpretations of these works Besides being of general interest to any reader interested in understanding Chekhov's work the book is intended to be of particular interest to students of Drama and Theatre Studies and to potential directors of these subtle plays Generating Theatre Meaning Eli Rozik, 2007-12-01 Offers a theory and methodology of performance analysis as an alternative to traditional play analysis This book carries an underlying theme that theatre performance is a descriptive text generated by the theatre medium and that the process of generating meaning takes place in the actual encounter between a theatre performance and the spectator Script Into Performance Richard Hornby, 1987 The Cumulative Book Index, 1986 A world list of books in the English language Molière and Theatricality James Patrick Carmody, 1986 Understanding Playscripts Roger Gross, 1974

Shakespeare and His Collaborators Over the Centuries Pavel Drábek, Klára Kolinská, Matthew Nicholls, 2008 This book presents a series of essays exploring the cultural notion that has come to be known as 'Shakespeare's collaborators' are not only those who were his contemporaries but also those who have given new life to his works in a new garb be it a play a theatre production a film a TV play a novel a museum item or a collection of illustrated strips The collection presents papers given at an international conference entitled Shakespeare and His Collaborators over the Centuries which took place at the Faculty of Arts Masaryk University Brno Czech Republic on February 8-11 2006 The individual contributions deal with the notion of collaborating with Shakespeare both in a literal as well as figurative sense The essays in the first section discuss the literary and cultural milieus which were conducive to the creation of Shakespeare's works The second part discusses early adaptations and variants of Shakespeare's plays while the third section offers a broader range of artistic as well as idolatrous repercussions of the Shakespearean canon Shadows of Realism Nancy Kindelan, 1996-04-16 This insightful work fills a gap in theatre studies illuminating how modernism influences theatrical interpretations and productions Kindelan focuses on how contemporary practitioners evoke new renderings of classical playscripts incorporating interviews with over 20 prominent professional actors directors designers and dramaturgs who discuss the way they work with a playscript in preparation for production The book includes a case study illustrating how imagistic readings of Chekhov s The Seagull produce metaphorical productions Kindelan addresses such controversial issues as subjectivity imagistic theatre reconceiving and the artist as auteur This work will be a valuable resource for theatre artists interested in developing their interpretive skills

Theater Directing Kazimierz Braun,2000 Polish born director writer playwright and scholar Braun State U of New York Buffalo sets down the approach to creative theatre directing that he teaches in his classes It is based on the two premises that directing is an act of creating of making something out of nothing and that is also a craft that requires skills techniques methods and tools to express the artistic energies and spiritual abundance of human life After an introduction he discusses shaping a theater style creative text analysis creating the human layer of the performance performance space and time action mind and imagination the director s practical preparations implementing the project before rehearsals creative rehearsals and final rehearsals leading to the opening The text is double spaced Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR
