Reconnection Betty Jean Craige,2010-11-01 An openly polemical work Reconnection seeks a way of returning the humanities to their place at the center of human life For the past three hundred years to study the humanities has implied an isolation from politics science and society Literary studies in particular have often fallen prey to this isolation by viewing novels plays and poems as impassive verbal icons as texts to be explicated without reference to political context or social significance Seeking a way of ending this self imposed exile of the humanities from the turmoil of social issues and concerns Betty Jean Craige looks to the contextual nondisciplinary thought that began to take hold in academia during the 1960s a development that echoed the rising political awareness brought to the universities by the Vietnam War the civil rights movement and women s liberation Recently this emergent openness in the university has come under attack by conservative critics who have sought to roll back the movement for nontraditional inquiry in academia and to reassert the dominance of hierarchical canonical thought By tracing the ideological history of literary studies Craige shows that this reactionary goal of reimposing canonical thought is in time doomed to failure the age of the discipline is over In its place Craige calls for the creation of a holistic system of learning that will emphasize interdisciplinary and nondisciplinary research reconnecting literary studies with history and philosophy with science and politics restoring literature itself to a central place in our intellectual discourse and social debate A Theory of Law and Literature Angela Condello,Tiziano Toracca,2020-11-16 In the present work a legal philosopher Angela Condello and a literaray scholar Tiziano Toracca develop the idea that a comparison between law and literature must be framed starting from the modes in which law and literature function In this sense they read law and literature as arts of compromising characterized by an analogous and yet at the same time profoundly different structure Both in fact mediate conflicts between norms and transgressions and more precisely between a principle of normativity repression on the one hand and a principle of counternormativity repressed on the other hand Through a progression in three steps aimed at clarifying some peculiarities of law 1 and literature 2 by referring to examples of their interaction 3 the authors finally sketch some relevant hypotheses on why a placement across these two arts of compromising suggests some theoretical itineraries on their threshold

Ethics and the Arts Paul Macneill, 2014-05-12 This book proposes that the highest expression of ethics is an aesthetic It suggests that the quintessential performance of any field of practice is an art that captures an ethic beyond any literal statement of values This is to advocate for a shift in emphasis away from current juridical approaches to ethics ethical codes or regulation toward ethics as an aesthetic practice away from ethics as a minimal requirement toward ethics as an aspiration The book explores the relationship between art and ethics a subject that has fascinated philosophers from ancient Greece to the present It explores this relationship in all the arts literature the visual arts film the performing arts and music It also examines current issues raised by hybrid artists who are working at the ambiguous intersections between art bio art and bioethics and challenging ethical limits in working with living materials In considering these issues the book investigates the potential for art and ethics to be mutually challenged and changed in this meeting The book is aimed at artists and students of the arts who may be interested in approaching ethics and the arts in a new way It is also aimed at students and teachers of ethics and philosophy as well as those working in bioethics and the health professions It will have appeal to the general educated reader as being current of considerable interest and offering a perspective on ethics that goes beyond a professional context to include questions about how one approaches ethics in one's own life and practices

Is there an Object Oriented Architecture? Joseph Bedford, 2020-02-20 Bringing Graham Harman's philosophy into direct confrontation with contemporary architectural theory in new and creative ways Is There an Object Oriented Architecture provides a dialogue between Harman and six of the world's leading architectural thinkers Adam Sharr Lorens Holm Jonathan Hale Peg Rawes Patrick Lynch and Peter Carl Harman's object oriented philosophy is one that sees the universe as a carnival of equal objects with no hierarchy between humans and nonhumans In his model unicorns triangles bicycles neutrons and humans are all things with enduring essences that outlast their partial transformations It is a strikingly democratic vision of the universe that knocks humans off their ontological pedestal as arbiters of what is real It also radically challenges the very precepts of architectural theory the structure of which remains stubbornly human centric as it seeks to give form to the human being s place at the centre of the cosmos In this new book each thinker develops the implications of Harman s philosophy for the future of architecture by entering into a direct exchange with the philosopher and his thinking both questioning him and questioning with him      Leadership and Rhetoric M. Todd Bates,2025-12-03 Rhetoric is not about communication tips or slick methods for grabbing attention It is rather a skill of understanding the point at issue in complex moments seeing a solution and moving people to the most desirable future Connecting classic works of rhetoric to contemporary studies of leadership this book draws from the long history and wisdom of rhetoric that has proven effective in the dynamic ambiguities of the leadership context It clarifies how these works help leaders shape their environments through words interpreting complex circumstances framing experiences that provide group understanding and creating a basis for structured action From its inception rhetoric has been about attunement to particular circumstances and recognizing the constraints and obstacles that present opportunities for the perceptive leader who can see and articulate ways of moving people forward to a more desirable future This book makes an explicit connection between classic works and current ideas of rhetorical leadership a growing area of higher education and research in leadership studies      Books in Print Supplement ,2002

Possible Worlds in Humanities, Arts and Sciences Nobelstiftelsen,1989 The Symposium was held as part of the bicentenary celebration of the Swedish Academy in August 1986 Thirty six contributions approach the theme from the fields of philosophy linguistics literature and art and natural science The discussion is of the fundamental questions of whether a possible world created by art can be an instrument for understanding the actual world and conversely whether scientific theories and models can be regarded as fictional in some way No subject index Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR      Forthcoming Books Rose Arny,1991      The Humanities Louise Dudley,Austin Faricy,James G.
