Reason Over Passion Harriet Martineau And The Novel:

Novel Approaches to Anthropology Marilyn Cohen, 2013-09-05 This volume of interdisciplinary essays reflect current contributions to literary anthropology Novel Approaches to Anthropology Contributions to Literary Anthropology showcases the myriad ways that anthropologists bring their disciplinary perspectives theories concepts and pedagogical strategies to interpreting fiction and travel writing written in the past and present The authors integrate insights from the reflexive deconstructive turn in anthropology and from critical Marxist and feminist approaches that ground interpretation in the political economic and social constraints and experiences of everyday life The contributors share the view that fiction like all artistic expression is rooted in specific historical and cultural contexts Literature like all artistic expression stimulates a critical imagination by allowing readers to take a fresh look at their own society and culture Romanticism, Medicine and the Natural Supernatural Gavin Budge, 2012-10-17 This fascinating interdisciplinary study examines the relationship between literary interest in visionary kinds of experience and medical ideas about hallucination and the nerves in the first half of the nineteenth century focusing on canonical Romantic authors the work of women writers influenced by Romanticism and visual culture Aufschrei der Frauen--Diskurs der Männer Maria Diedrich, 1992 Victorian Pain Rachel Ablow, 2020-06-09 The nineteenth century introduced developments in science and medicine that made the eradication of pain conceivable for the first time This new understanding of pain brought with it a complex set of moral and philosophical dilemmas If pain serves no obvious purpose how do we reconcile its existence with a well ordered universe Examining how writers of the day engaged with such questions Victorian Pain offers a compelling new literary and philosophical history of modern pain Rachel Ablow provides close readings of novelists Charlotte Bront and Thomas Hardy and political and natural philosophers John Stuart Mill Harriet Martineau and Charles Darwin as well as a variety of medical scientific and popular writers of the Victorian age She explores how discussions of pain served as investigations into the status of persons and the nature and parameters of social life No longer conceivable as divine trial or punishment pain in the nineteenth century came to seem instead like a historical accident suggesting little or nothing about the individual who suffers A landmark study of Victorian literature and the history of pain Victorian Pain shows how these writers came to see pain as a social as well as a personal problem Rather than simply self evident to the sufferer and unknowable to anyone else pain was also understood to be produced between persons and even perhaps by the fictions they read Clio's Daughters Lynette Felber, 2007 They discover new texts and methodologies exploring nineteenth century British women s historiography their writing of history often through unexpected sources not previously regarded as historical venues journalism travel writing architectural preservation and costume balls BOOK JACKET Autorinnen der viktorianischen Epoche Silvia Mergenthal, 2004 Zielgruppen Anglisten Amerikanisten Soziologen Dozenten Studenten Lehrer Bibliotheken Institute Harriet Martineau, First Woman Sociologist Susan Hoecker-Drysdale, 1992 This book is about the life and work of Harriet Martineau English
