Reasons We Speak Cognition And Discourse In The Second Language Classroom:

The Reasons We Speak Miguel Mantero, 2002-10-30 The role of cognition in a literature based foreign language classroom is investigated and explained here By implementing a sociocultural approach cognition is understood as the basic building block for all human learning and language development This study incorporates various understandings and views from reader response theory literary theory and discourse analysis in order to support the conclusions reached through authentic classroom discourse analysis Along with clarifying current trends in second language acquisition theory this text also offers the classroom teacher practical suggestions on how to approach and evaluate classroom talk that is based on literature or authentic readings The book also contains new approaches and views on the roles of reader response theory in the language classroom that are also reflected in a contemporary literary theory that has been developed especially with second language readers and learners in mind The author challenges the current view of scaffolding as demonstrated in the data analysis and offers a more realistic interpretation of what may actually be taking place in the language classrooms under the guise of scaffolding The role of opportunities to enter into discourse becomes central to the main argument and is exemplified through actual classroom transcripts

Identity and Second Language Learning

Miguel Mantero, 2006-12-01 This collection of research has attempted to capture the essence and promise embodied in the concept of identity and built a bridge to the realm of second language studies However the reader will notice that we did not build just one link This volume brings to light the diversity of research in identity and second language studies that are grounded the notions of community instructors and students language immersion and study abroad pop culture and music religion code switching and media The chapters reflect the efforts of contributors from Canada Japan Norway New Zealand the United Arab Emirates and the United States who performed their research in the countries just mentioned and in other regions around the world Because of this this volume truly offers an international perspective

The Routledge Handbook of Hispanic Applied Linguistics Manel Lacorte, 2014-09-19 This book provides a comprehensive overview of Hispanic applied linguistics allowing students to understand the field from a variety of perspectives and offering insight into the ever growing number of professional opportunities afforded to Spanish language program graduates The goal of this book is to re contextualize the notion of applied linguistics as simply the application of theoretical linguistic concepts to practical settings and to consider it as its own field that addresses language based issues and problems in a real world context The book is organized into five parts 1 perspectives on learning Spanish 2 issues and environments in Spanish teaching 3 Spanish in the professions 4 the discourses of Spanish and 5 social and political contexts for Spanish The book's all inclusive coverage gives students the theoretical and sociocultural context for study in Hispanic applied linguistics while offering practical information on its application in the professional sector

Language, Education, and Ideology Timothy Reagan, 2002-11-30 Language educators in general and foreign language educators in particular need to be aware of and sensitive to issues related to the interface and nexus of language education and ideology This work places foreign language education in its social context as well as applying critical pedagogy to the foreign language classroom to help educators become more aware of the social political historical and economic contexts in which they work and which effect the classroom setting Research and scholarship in critical pedagogy is impressive extensive and powerful and has had significant impact on nearly every aspect of contemporary educational scholarship One area in which critical theory and critical pedagogy have been slow to have a noticeable effect however is that of language education especially foreign language education Further while a number of important works address issues of critical literacy there are no general works presenting critical perspectives on language and language issues targeting classroom teachers and other educators This work offers a broad and comprehensive overview of language and linguistic issues that emerge in the classroom context from a critical philosophical perspective The central focus is on the nexus of issues of language education and ideology as the title suggests and specific topics covered will include language and power linguistic purism the marginalization of second language education in the United States the phenomenon of ideological monolingualism in the United States the hierarchy of the less commonly taught languages both in terms of its etiology and the ideological and hegemonic functions this hierarchy serves nonmainstream language varieties in school settings issues of linguistic legitimacy in the classroom context the politics and ideological context of bilingual education in the United States language policy both as a tool for oppression and as a means of empowerment and finally the need for critical language awareness on the part of all educators On

Teaching Foreign Languages Marcela Ruiz-Funes, 2002-10-30 The author reports on a qualitative action research project on theories and practices in foreign language education The goal of the study was to relate the knowledge of foreign language teaching learning and acquisition gained through research to the beliefs and experiences of expert foreign language teachers The four participating teachers represent real teachers who distinguish themselves from their peers for their excellence in teaching foreign languages and their success in serving as clinical teachers Four theoretical issues are discussed in detail the proficiency movement the role of input teaching language in context and class participation motivation and discipline These aspects were selected because 1 they pose major challenges to foreign language interns and 2 they play an essential role in the learning acquisition process of second language students The major contribution of this study is the integration of the theoretical and practical dimensions The practical aspect is presented by the expert foreign language teachers who describe in their own words how and explain why they implement a given foreign language theory in their classrooms This integration provides foreign language teachers with a realistic view of foreign language education and establishes a dialogue between the university and the school communities A significant number of excerpts from discussion interview sessions conducted with the teachers are included Teaching Science with Hispanic ELLs in K-16

Classrooms Dennis W. Sunal, Cynthia S Sunal, Emmett L. Wright, 2010-04-01 The goal of this fourth volume of RISE was to provide a research foundation that demonstrates an agenda to strengthen the preparation and enhancement of teachers of science for regions and states experiencing extensive initial growth of Hispanic ELLs in schools The goal was carried out through a series of events that led to the planning and subsequent dissemination of research being conducted by various stakeholders throughout the United States Researchers were first invited from regions of the country that have had a long history of with Hispanic ELLs in classrooms as well as those regions where initial and now extensive growth has occurred only in the past few years A national conference Science Teacher Education for Hispanic English Language Learners in the Southeast SHELLS funded through the National Science Foundation was used as one of the dissemination methods to establish and secure commitments from researchers to a conduct and report research to strengthen teacher preparation for science The national call for manuscripts requested the inclusion of major priorities and critical research areas methodological concerns and concerns and results of implementation of teacher preparation and development programs
