Rebecca West and the God that failed Carl Edmund Rollyson, 1996 Lives of the Novelists Carl Rollyson, 2005-10 Is there a right way to write a literary life In this collection of columns from the New York Sun Carl Rollyson explores the relationship between narrative and literary analysis Should biographies be written in the style and form of novels How to balance the life and the work How much literary criticism can a biography absorb into its narrative Rollyson proposes a number of apologies for biography including the thought that in the right hands the literary biography is a continuation not only of the writer's work and life In such instances there seems to be a symbiosis between biographer and subject In other cases biographies spearhead the rediscovery of important writers He rejects the idea that literary figures are not good subjects for biography because they are not men and women of action That literary biography is a kind of strip mining a pathography laying bare the subject's life to no good purpose is another canard this book demolishes The pieces here also expose the genre's weak points a proclivity for overstatement and excessive length the failure of biographers to build upon their predecessors' work Rollyson invents a term biographology in order to discuss the biographical tradition

The History of British Women's Writing, 1945-1975 Clare Hanson, Susan Watkins, 2017-09-14 This volume reshapes our understanding of British literary culture from 1945-1975 by exploring the richness and diversity of women's writing of this period Essays by leading scholars reveal the range and intensity of women writers' engagement with post-war transformations including the founding of the Welfare State the gradual liberalization of attitudes to gender and sexuality and the reconfiguration of Britain and the empire in the context of the Cold War Attending closely to the politics of form the sixteen essays range across literary middlebrow and popular genres including espionage thrillers and historical fiction children's literature and science fiction as well as poetry drama and journalism They examine issues including realism and experimentalism education class and politics the emergence of second wave feminism responses to the Holocaust and mass migration and diaspora The volume offers an exciting reassessment of women's writing at a time of radical social change and rapid cultural expansion Rebecca West and the God That Failed Carl Rollyson, 2005-07-13 After completing his biography of Rebecca West in 1995 Carl Rollyson felt bereft As his wife said Rebecca was such good company He had already embarked on another biography but Rebecca kept beckoning him He felt there was more to say about her politics a misunderstood part of her repertoire as reporter and novelist And had he done justice to her enormous sense of fun and humor He regretted excising the portrait of her he wanted to put at the beginning of his biography His editor kept cutting away at what he called Rollyson's doorstep of a book And then after years of waiting Rollyson received her FBI file He kept running into Rebecca so to speak when he was working on his biographies of Martha Gellhorn and Jill Craigie Interviews in London often turned up people who had known West as well Thus piece by piece Rollyson accumulated what is now another book about Rebecca West This new collection tells the story of how his biography got written of what it means to think like a biographer and why West's vision remains relevant She is one of the great personalities and writers of the modern age and one that we are just beginning to comprehend Female Icons Carl Rollyson, 2005 This volume represents more than twenty five years of writing about female icons and biography Rollyson provides the bits and pieces that resulted not only in his biography of Marilyn Monroe but also in much of the work he has subsequently done on Lillian Hellman Martha Gellhorn Rebecca West Susan Sontag and on the nature of biography itself This book includes a selection of Rollyson's New York Sun book reviews dealing with female icons such as Mary Stuart Mary Wollstonecraft The Brontës Marie Curie Harriet Tubman Zelda Fitzgerald and Sylvia Plath Rollyson's writing about icons has provoked him to question the process by which selves are defined Discovering the shaping mechanisms of the self is simultaneously a way of understanding how biographies are built In the end this book should be of interest not merely to devotees of Monroe Sontag and other icons but also to anyone curious about the nature of biography and the biographer American Biography Carl Rollyson, 2006-02 This collection of reviews selected from Rollyson's New York Sun column is as much about the romance of biography as it is about the American lives Certain concerns resonate throughout the book the American left's failure to reckon with Communist subversion McCarthyism and Stalinism the problematic nature of authorized biography the history of American biography definitive biographies literary biography the differences between autobiography and biography the importance of interviews in biographies of contemporary figures the differences between history and biography comparative biographies the virtues of short biographies and of biographies for children the tendency of biographers to fictionalize and of novelists to biographize psychology and biography Rollyson's own experience as a biographer and the way biographers treat one another's work Too many biographers he believes evince no interest in the biographical tradition Concerned only with possession of their subjects their proprietorial attitude deforms not only their biographies but also the genre itself If biography is reviewed badly receiving hardly more than a summary of the subject's life with a perfunctory nod to the biographer it is because the biographical tradition has been disregarded or discounted This book in other words has been written on the behalf of biography a genre that still awaits a full vindication Rebecca West Bernard Schweizer, 2002-09-30 With the violent disintegration of Yugoslavia in the 1990s West's Black Lamb and Grey Falcon catapulted her into the limelight and brought her wide critical attention This book offers a much needed assessment of her literary career BOOK JACKET Historical Abstracts, 1997 The New Criterion, 1998 Elemental Germans Christoph Laucht, 2012-05-15 Christoph Laucht offers the first investigation into the roles played by two German born emigre atomic scientists Klaus Fuchs and Rudolf Peierls in the development of British nuclear culture especially the practice of nuclear science and the political implications of the atomic scientists work from the start of the Second World War until 1959 Literature and Politics Murray A. Sperber, 1979 A collection of poems articles short stories and sections of novels revealing the political nature of literature The New York Times Book Review Index, 1896-1970: Author index, 1973 Choice, 1978 Koestler Iain Hamilton, 1982 Arthur Koestler Frank Day, 1987 Women Writers of the 1930s Maroula Joannou, 1999 This volume of new writings has a double purpose to question Auden's description of the 1930s as a low dishonest decade and to draw attention to the richness complexity and diversity of women's writing of the period and how this deals with issues of politics gender and history The writers discussed include Elizabeth von Arnim Elizabeth Bowen Katherine Burdekin Nancy Cunard Storm Jameson Rosamond Lehmann Naomi Mitchison Jean Rhys Sylvia Townsend Warner Rebecca West and Virginia Woolf Key Features A clear and informative introduction by Maroula Joannou sets the writers in historical and literary context The essays deal with Modernist texts as well as traditional modes of writing and with neglected and well known writers An important challenge to the ways in which the literature of the 1930s has been traditionally understood which questions the myth of the Auden generation Brings together a range of distinguished contributors all of whom are experienced university teachers who all contribute new research The New York Times Book Review, 1978 The Uses of Apocalypse Murray A. Sperber, 1974 The New Statesman and Nation, 1950
