Access to Justice for Persons with Psychosocial Disabilities Paul Ochieng Juma,2025-11-06 Taking Kenya as a case study this book examines the application of criminal procedure in the context of persons with psychosocial disabilities It discusses how the right to participation of persons with psychosocial disabilities who have been declared unfit can be best protected during and after the criminal process in Africa and at the international level In doing so it hypothesises that the social model of disability is inadequate to respond to violations against the right to participation of persons with psychosocial disabilities in the criminal justice system and thus the need for other normative frameworks such as Foucauldian and decolonial theories It recommends that legislative enactment and reform are imperative not only to promote participation in access to justice but also to remove the barriers inhibiting the legal capacity of persons with psychosocial disabilities The study will encourage intercontinental dialogue on disability unfitness declarations and participation policy analysis while also contributing to theory and legal development The book will be of interest to academics researchers and policy makers working in the areas of criminal procedure disability studies and international human rights law
