now grows beyond borders and begins to conduct business globally as a multinational corporation Its existing set of corporate Codes of Ethics are now confronted with other nations societies and cultures and possibly other ethicities Whether the company should do as the Romans do or not is the major question of the second part closely connected to the keywords relativism and universalism The problems revealed by each approach and possible solutions to them will be shown in part two The conclusion finally summarises the findings of the essay briefly but moreover shows further questions and problems that would be worth to explore in the overlapping areas of applied ethics and international management
