Reform In Soviet Politics The Lessons Of Recent Policies On Land And Water:

Reform in Soviet Politics Thane Gustafson, 1981 This book examines the record of the Brezhnev regime in its only major domestic innovation the attempt to modernise Soviet agriculture Under Brezhnev the Soviets have invested more than half a trillion dollars in the countryside but the Kremlin has remarkably little to show for the effort The reason for the poor return Gustafson argues is that it is fundamentally flawed because it has been conducted along traditional Soviet lines For all its innovative features the agricultural programme resembles nothing so much as the Stalinist industrialising campaigns of the fifties The Soviets cannot afford another such reform Consequently the agricultural programme cannot stand as a model for meeting the complex problems the Soviets will have to deal with in the next twenty years Gustafson asserts that whatever solution they devise will depend on whether the Soviet political elite can develop resources and instruments of power more appropriate to the needs of a mature industrial economy But whether such changes are possible rests on fundamental questions about the essence of power in the Soviet regime

Patronage and Politics in the USSR John P. Willerton, 1992 How do Soviet politicians rise to power How are national and regional regimes formed How are conflicting political interests brought together as policies are developed in the Soviet Union In Patronage and Politics in the USSR first published in 1991 Professor John Willerton offers major insights into the patronage networks that have dominated elite mobility regime formation and governance in the Soviet Union during the past twenty five years Using the biographical and career details of over two thousand national leaders and regional officials in Azerbaijan and Lithuania John Willerton traces the patron client relations underlying recruitment mobility and policymaking He explores the strategies of power consolidation and coalition building used by Soviet chief executives since 1964 as well as the institutional links and policy outcomes that have resulted from network politics The author also assesses the manner and extent to which leaders in politically stable and less stable settings spanning different national cultural contexts have relied upon patronage networks to consolidate power and to govern Finally Professor Willerton explores how in a period of dramatic change patron client networks may have given way to institutionalised interest groups and political parties

Agrarian Reform in Russia Carol S. Leonard, 2010-12-06 This book examines the history of reforms and major state interventions affecting Russian agriculture the abolition of serfdom in 1861 the Stolypin reforms the NEP the Collectivization Khrushchev reforms and finally farm enterprise privatization in the early 1990s It shows a pattern emerging from a political imperative in imperial Soviet and post Soviet regimes and it describes how these reforms were justified in the name of the national interest during severe crises rapid inflation military defeat mass strikes rural unrest and or political turmoil It looks at the consequences of adversity in the economic environment for rural behavior after reform and at long run trends It has chapters on property rights rural organization and technological change It provides a new database for measuring agricultural productivity from 1861 to 1913 and updates these estimates to the present This book is a study of the policies aimed at reorganizing rural production and their effectiveness in transforming institutions

Institutions, Ideas and Leadership in Russian Politics Julie Newton, William Tompson, 2010-06-23 A stimulating and thought provoking collection that challenges some of the emerging conventional wisdom about contemporary Russia It examines the role of leadership institutions and ideas and the interactions among them in shaping Russia s post Soviet transformation

Nature and National Identity After Communism Katrina Z. S. Schwartz, 2006-11-26 In this groundbreaking book Katrina Schwartz examines the intersection of environmental politics globalization and national identity in a small East European country modern day Latvia Based on extensive ethnographic research and lively discourse analysis it explores that country s post Soviet responses to European assistance and political pressure in nature management biodiversity conservation and rural development These responses were shaped by hotly contested notions of national identity articulated as contrasting visions of the ideal rural landscape The players in this story include Latvian farmers and other traditional rural dwellers environmental advocates and professionals with divided attitudes toward new European approaches to sustainable development An entrenched set of forestry and land management practices with roots in the Soviet and pre Soviet eras confront growing international pressures on a small country to conform to current Western notions of environmental responsibility notions often perceived by Latvians to be at odds with local interests While the case is that of Latvia the dynamics Schwartz explores have wide applicability and speak powerfully to broader theoretical discussions about sustainable development social constructions of nature the sources of nationalism and the impacts of globalization and regional integration on the traditional nation state
