David Gauthier

David Gauthier's Practical Reason

David Gauthier is a professor of philosophy at the University of Toronto.

David Gauthier (1925-1992) was a leading philosopher of the 20th century. He was a leading proponent of the theory of rational choice, and his work has been influential in the study of practical reason. The volume contains all of his papers that have appeared in philosophical and linguistic journals.

Gauthier's approach is based on mathematical logic and the methods of formal logic. He argues that the rational choice theory is the only theory that can be derived from the axioms of rational choice, and that it is the only theory that can be derived from the axioms of rational choice. He also argues that the rational choice theory is the only theory that can be derived from the axioms of rational choice.

Practical Reason Bristol Conference on Critical Philosophy Staff, Bristol Conference on Critical Philosophy, 1999

Korner Stephan Körner, 1974     Dictionary of Twentieth-Century British Philosophers Stuart Brown, 2005-06-01 This is a two volume work with entries on individuals who made some contribution to philosophy in the period 1900 to 1960 or soon after. The entries deal with the whole philosophical work of an individual or in the case of philosophers still living their whole work to date. Typically the individuals included have been born by 1935 and by now have made their main contributions. Contributions to the subject typically take the form of books or journal articles but influential teachers and people otherwise important in the world of philosophy may also be included. The dictionary includes amateurs as well as professional philosophers and where appropriate thinkers whose main discipline was outside philosophy. There are special problems about the term British in the twentieth century partly because of human migration partly because of decolonization and the changing denotation of the term. The intention has been to include not only those who were British subjects at least for a significant part of their lives even if they mostly lived outside what is now the U K but also people who spent a significant part of their lives in Britain itself irrespective of their nationality or country of origin. In the first category are included for instance a number of people who were born and educated in Britain but who subsequently taught in universities abroad. In the second category are included those who were born elsewhere but who came to Britain and contributed to its philosophical culture.

Practical Reason Stephan Körner, 1974     Structural Rationality and Other Essays on Practical Reason Julian Nida-Rümelin, 2019-05-24 In this book the author shows that it is necessary to enrich the conceptual frame of the theory of rational choice beyond consequentialism. He argues that consequentialism as a general theory of rational action fails and that this does not force us into the dichotomy teleology vs deontology. The unity of practical reason can be saved without consequentialism. In the process he presents insightful criticism of standard models of action and rational choice. This will help readers discover a new perspective on the theory of rationality. The approach is radical. It transcends the reductive narrowness of instrumental rationality without denying its practical impact. Actions do exist that are outlined in accordance to utility maximizing or even self interest maximizing. Yet not all actions are to be understood in these terms. Actions oriented around social roles for example cannot count as irrational only because there is no known underlying maximizing heuristic. The concept of bounded rationality tries to embed instrumental rationality into a form of life to highlight limits of our cognitive capabilities and selective perceptions. However the agent is still left within the realm of cost benefit reasoning. The idea of social preferences or meta preferences cannot encompass the plurality of human actions. According to the author they ignore the plurality of reasons that drive agency. Hence they coerce agency in fitting into a theory that undermines humanity. His theory of structural rationality acknowledges lifeworld patterns of interaction and meaning.

Practical Reasoning Douglas N. Walton, 1990-06-20 This book is an analysis of the distinctive form of reasoning called practical reasoning by

Aristotle as opposed to theoretical reasoning that serves to guide behaviour It is a contribution to the literature on practical reasoning and indirectly on its application to action theory Phenomenology and the Human Positioning in the Cosmos Anna-Teresa Tymieniecka, 2012-10-24 The classic conception of human transcendental consciousness assumes its self supporting existential status within the horizon of life world nature and earth Yet this assumed absoluteness does not entail the nature of its powers neither their constitutive force This latter call for an existential source reaching beyond the generative life world network Transcendental consciousness having lost its absolute status its point of reference it is the role of the logos to lay down the harmonious positioning in the cosmic sphere of the all establishing an original foundation of phenomenology in the primogenital onto-poiesis of life Papers on Subjects Connected with the Duties of the Corps of Royal Engineers. Transactions of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, 1893 Responsibility and the Demands of Morality Stephen J. White, 2024-12-17 Stephen J White 1983 2021 was developing a comprehensive view of responsibility and its limits when his life was tragically cut short This volume contains his collected papers White s view of responsibility spans across ethics action theory and interpersonal epistemology Its core idea is that to be responsible for doing or believing something is to be answerable for why one has done it or why one believes it and to be responsible for a state of affairs is to be answerable for why things are that way rather than some other way White deploys this conception of responsibility to illuminate the notions of autonomy coercion shared reasoning self prediction doxastic wronging and peer disagreement He also investigates the nature of practical reasoning he argues against a production oriented conception of practical reasoning delineates the scope of transmission principles in means ends reasoning and identifies a limited for self prediction in practical reasoning that is subject to an anti opportunism constraint The papers form the outline of a deep ethical outlook that takes seriously our personal and collective responsibilities and yet leaves room for personal autonomy both in thought and in action

Critique of Journalistic Reason Tom Vandeputte, 2020-09-01 An encounter between philosophy and journalism recurs across the modern philosophical tradition Images of reporters and newspaper readers messengers and town criers announcements and rumors populate the work of such thinkers as Kierkegaard Nietzsche and Benjamin This book argues that these three thinkers preoccupation with journalism cannot be separated from their philosophy proper but plays a pivotal role in their philosophical work where it marks an important nexus between their theories of history time and language Journalism in the tradition Vandeputte brings to light figures before anything else as a cipher of the time in which philosophy is written If the journalist and newspaper reader characterize what Kierkegaard calls the present age that is because they exemplify a present marked by the crisis of the philosophy of history a time after the demise of history as a philosophizable concept In different ways the pages of the newspaper appear in the European philosophical tradition as a site where teleological and totalizing representations of history must founder together with the conceptions of progress and development that sustain them But journalism does not simply mark the end of philosophy for Kierkegaard Nietzsche and Benjamin journalistic writing also takes on an exemplary role in the attempt to think time and history in the wake of this demise The concepts around which these attempts crystallize Kierkegaard's instant Nietzsche's untimeliness and Benjamin's actuality all emerge from the philosophical confrontation with journalism and its characteristic temporalities *Journal of Proceedings and Addresses of the ...
