Signs Of Jonah Reading And Rereading In Ancient Yahud:

The Signs of Jonah Ehud Ben Zvi, 2003-06-01 In this new and refreshing approach to the story Ben Zvi starts with the premise that Jonah like most books was written to be read. He therefore concentrates on intended and unintended readerships of Jonah and the network of messages that they were likely to derive through their reading and rereading. He starts with the historical and social matrix of the production and reading of the book in antiquity, analyzes its self-critical approach and its metaphoric character as a comment on the genre of prophetic books and on prophets. How does the historical fact of Nineveh's destruction actually shape the reading or the perception of Jonah as a runaway slave? Ben Zvi demonstrates the malleability of interpretation of the Book of Jonah and its limitations as attested in different communities of readers. He asks why certain messages are easily accepted by particular historical communities whereas others are not raised at all.

Social Memory among the Literati of Yehud Ehud Ben Zvi, 2019-07-22 Ehud Ben Zvi has been at the forefront of exploring how the study of social memory contributes to our understanding of the intellectual world of the literati of the early Second Temple period and their textual repertoire. Many of his studies on the matter and several new relevant works are here collected together, providing a very useful resource for furthering research and teaching in this area. The essays included here address inter alia prophets as sites of memory, kings as sites of memory, Jerusalem as a site of memory, a mnemonic system shaped by two interacting national histories, matters of identity and othering as framed and explored via memories, mnemonic metanarratives making sense of the past and serving various didactic purposes, and their problems, memories of past and future events shared by the literati, issues of gender constructions and memory, memories understood by the group as counterfactual and their importance, and in multiple ways how and why shared memories served as a safe playground for exploring multiple central ideological issues within the group and of generative grammars governing systemic preferences and dispreferences for particular memories.

Community Identity in Judean Historiography Gary N. Knoppers, Kenneth A. Ristau, 2009-06-30 Most of the essays in this volume stem from the special sessions of the Historiography Seminar of the Canadian Society for Biblical Studies held in the late spring of 2007, University of Saskatchewan. The papers in these focused sessions dealt with issues of self-identification, community identity, and ethnicity in Judahite and Yehudite historiography. The scholars present addressed a range of issues such as the understanding, presentation, and delimitation of Israel in various biblical texts; the relationship of Israelites to Judahites in Judean historical writings; the definition of Israel over against other peoples and the possible reasons why the ethno-religious community Israel was the focus of Judahite/Yehudite historiography. Papers approached these matters from a variety of theoretical and disciplinary vantage points. For example, some pursued an inner-biblical perspective, pentateuchal sources, writings of Former Prophets, Latter Prophets, Chronicles, Ezra, Nehemiah, while others pursued a cross-cultural comparative perspective, ancient Near Eastern, ancient Greek, and Hellenistic historiographies, Western and non-Western historiographic traditions. Still others attempted to relate the material remains to the question of community identity in northern Israel monarchic Judah and postmonarchic Yehud

History, Literature and Theology in the Book of Chronicles Ehud Ben Zvi, 2014-12-05 History Literature and Theology in the Book of Chronicles presents a new way of approaching this key biblical text arguing that the Book employs both multiple viewpoints and the knowledge of the past held by its intended readership to reshape social memory and reinforce the authority of God The Book of Chronicles communicates to its intended readership a theological worldview built around multiple partial perspectives which inform and balance each other This is a worldview which emphasizes the limitations of all human knowledge even of theologically proper knowledge When Chronicles presents the past as explainable it also affirms that those who inhabited it could not predict the future And despite expanding an explainable past the Book deliberately frames some of YHWH's actions crucial events in Israel's social memory as unexplainable in human terms The Book serves to rationalise divinely ordained prescriptive behaviour through its emphasis on the impossibility of adequate human understanding of a past present and future governed by YHWH

Der Abschluss des Zwölfprophetenbuches Jakob Wöhrle, 2008 Das Buch behandelt die in der bisherigen Forschung besonders umstrittenen späten Entstehungsphasen des Zwölfprophetenbuches Auf Grundlage einer vollständigen redaktionsgeschichtlichen Analyse der Bücher Obadja Jona Nahum Habakuk Deuteriosacharja und Maleachi wird gezeigt wie nach der Formierung erster buchbergreifender Sammlungen des exilischen Vierprophetenbuches mit den Büchern Hosea Amos Micha und Zefanja des Haggai Sacharja Korpus und der Einarbeitung des Joelbuches in das exilische Vierprophetenbuch aus diesen Teilsammlungen in mehreren Stufen das vorliegende Zwölfprophetenbuch erwachsen ist So wird in dieser Studie ein neues Gesamtmodell zur Entstehung des Zwölfprophetenbuches vorgelegt das erstmals aus der Entstehung der Einzelbücher heraus entwickelt ist und so umfassende Einblicke in die Formierung der einzelnen Entstehungsstadien und in die damit verbundenen theologiegeschichtlichen Entwicklungen bietet
