Signs Following Ger Killeen, 2005 Description Signs Following explores how the language of poetry can engage with history temporality and the fact of embodiment in the physical world of change and difference while yearning for some transcendent guarantee of meaning The poems in Signs Following express this tension by pushing their language occasions and formal attributes beyond a comfortable clarity in an attempt to discover what meanings and values if any can reside on the other side of the work In the course of these explorations the poems engage also with the history and limits of the lyric itself testing the capacity of the sonnet the villanelle and the ode among others to deal with conditions of personal political and historical extremity About the Author Ger Killeen's previous books include A Wren which won the 1989 Bluestem Award for Poetry and A Stone That Will Leap Over The Waves Trask House Books 1999 His work has been anthologized in From Here We Speak Oregon State University Press On the Counterscarp Salmon Publishing and American Poetry The Next Generation Carnegie Mellon University Press Killeen lives on the Oregon coast and is a professor in the Dept of English Literature Writing at Marylhurst University Free Verse Editions Edited by Jon Thompson Free Verse Editions is a joint venture between Free Verse A Journal of Contemporary Poetry Poetics and Parlor Press The series publishes collections that dramatize a singular vision of experience a mastery of craft a deep knowledge of poetic tradition and a willingness to take risks For more information about the annual competition visit Parlor Press <http://www.parlorpress.com> or Free Verse <http://english.chass.ncsu.edu/freeverse> on the Web A Map of Faring Peter Riley, 2005-05-06 A Map of Faring holds three major poetical sequences meditating on particular places an English wood a Transylvanian valley and a house in southern France as well as poems of places in Austria Germany The Czech Republic Italy Spain and elsewhere In these landscape and encounters become the vocabulary of a personal exploration of senses of time and passage and the fate of small localities in the spread of global forces A Map of Faring reckons with acts large and small that are transforming the world even as it searches to understand within that reckoning the possible regenerative presence of art System and Population Christopher Sindt, 2016-11-01 Christopher Sindt's System and Population returns to the primary theme of Sindt's earlier collection The Bodies the impact of human desire on the natural world System and Population focuses on the proposed damming of the American River canyon in northern California working with source texts such as geologic studies government documents and the diaries of gold miners to study the intersections of personal experience scientific study and the politics of rivers and dams It is a personal eco poetics that embraces the tradition of the lyric experimenting with collage and the explicit inclusion of historic and scientific data System and Population meditates on human experiences such as parenthood and loss and also studies the dissociative effects of environmental damage and disaster Divination Machine F.
