Why Care? Chris Warner, Caroline Greenlee, Chris Butterworth, 2024-06-03 We live in an ever changing world in which organizations find it increasingly difficult to stay ahead of the changes needed to be successful without thriving people The authors believe that when people are valued and respected it improves their overall mental well being and workplace experience which in turn makes them more motivated to help meet the purpose and objectives of the organization and adapt to external drivers This book explores how mental well being and a culture of continuous improvement are intertwined and mutually reinforcing The authors contend that to create a sustainable culture of continuous improvement there must be an organization wide focus on mental well being at the individual level A culture of continuous improvement nurtured in the right way however will indeed support mental well being and help create a thriving organization The key benefit of the book is demonstrating how important mental well being is for sustainable organizational success It explores this through many different lenses such as the individual teams leaders and the organization as a whole and explains the key elements needed for success Leaders at all levels are able to understand why mental well being is critical and how to nurture it in the workplace In addition the book explains the importance of diversity equality inclusion and belonging and how this is integral to mental well being and a thriving organization This book provides unique insight into how mental well being and a culture of continuous improvement are intertwined explaining how thriving people and a thriving culture of continuous improvement create a thriving organization

Topics from Australian Conferences on Teaching Statistics Helen MacGillivray, Brian Phillips, Michael A. Martin, 2014-09-01 The first OZCOTS conference in 1998 was inspired by papers contributed by Australians to the 5th International Conference on Teaching Statistics In 2008 as part of the program of one of the first National Senior Teaching Fellowships the 6th OZCOTS was held in conjunction with the Australian Statistical Conference with Fellowship keynotes and contributed papers optional refereeing and proceedings This venture was so successful that the 7th and 8th OZCOTS were similarly run conjoined with Australian Statistical Conferences in 2010 and 2012 Authors of papers from these OZCOTS conferences were invited to develop chapters for refereeing and inclusion in this volume There are sections on keynote topics undergraduate curriculum and learning professional development postgraduate learning and papers from OZCOTS 2012

Because OZCOTS aim to unite statisticians and statistics educators the approaches this volume takes are immediately relevant to all who have a vested interest in good teaching practices Globally statistics as a discipline statistical pedagogy and statistics in academia and industry are all critically important to the modern information society This volume addresses these roles within the wider society as well as questions that are specific to the discipline itself Other chapters share research on learning and teaching statistics in interdisciplinary work and student preparation for futures in academia government and industry

Students' Development of Models of Magnetic Materials, Patterns of Group Activity, and Social Norms in a Physics Classroom Andrew P. Johnson, 1999 This dissertation is a study of students model development processes in a physical science course for preservice elementary teachers It details the models of magnetic materials developed and used by students during a unit on static electricity and magnetism In this inquiry based course the class developed and formally accepted a model in the form of diagrams and descriptions that is very similar to the accepted magnetic domains model They did this without textbooks or lectures on magnetism Before adopting this model however most groups in the class temporarily used models involving opposite charges at the two ends of magnetized nails How did the students do it The explanation involves detailed study of the groups interactions and use of structure in the classroom environment This dissertation uses two theoretical frameworks to analyze interactions It applies Yackel and Cobb s 1996 concepts of classroom social norms to characterize aspects of the classroom participation structure which affected groups construction and declaration of models It also applies distributed cognition ideas to analyze the sense making conversations that small groups had when constructing group responses This research found that conversations in one small group could be characterized into sixteen categories Important categories included extending ideas which involved gradual deepening and elaboration of the group s understanding of their model s and joint typing an interactive process by which group members collaborated on typed statements or group diagrams and simultaneously developed common language for communicating their ideas to each other Some of these categories of activity were closely connected to computer use Also four classroom norms are described One small group social classroom norm involved group members developing a common ground consisting of agreed upon group statements Three sociophysics norms which characterize the whole class interactions as well as those of the small group involved a distinction between generalizations of phenomena and theoretical statements class criteria for accepting evidence and the obligation for each group to have a model of magnetic materials that they could support with acceptable evidence
