Grasslands Julia Waterlow, 1997 Explains how grasslands are formed the wildlife that inhabits them and the impact man has on the grassland environment

Grasslands of the World Victor R. Squires, Jürgen Dengler, Limin Hua, Haiying Feng, 2018-09-05 This book begins with a brief account of the extraordinary sequence of events that led to emergence of grasslands as major vegetation formations that now occupy some of the driest and hottest and the highest and coldest on earth as well as vast steppes and prairies in more temperate climates It is the story of grasses successfully competing with forests and woodlands aided and abetted by grazing herbivores and by humans and their use of fire as a tool

It is a story of adaptation to changing climates and the changing biophysical environments. A major focus of the book is the Palaearctic biogeographic realm that extends over some 45 million km² and thus more than 1/3 of the terrestrial ice free surface on Earth. It comprises extensive grasslands of different types and origin which can be subdivided into 1 natural grasslands with 1a steppes climatogenic in dry climates 1b arctic alpine grasslands climatogenic in cold climates and 1c azonal and extrazonal grasslands pedogenic and topogenic as well as 2 secondary grasslands created and sustained by human activities such as livestock grazing mowing or burning. Grasslands of the Palaearctic do not only form a major basis for the agriculture of the region and thus its food supply but are also crucial for other ecosystem services and host a supra proportional part of the realm's plant and animal diversity. To reflect that suitability of grasslands for biodiversity strongly depends on their state we apply the term High Nature Value grassland to those natural grasslands that are not degraded in good state and those secondary grasslands that are not intensified semi natural. The situation in a variety of countries where grasslands are evolving under the influence of global climate change is also considered. Case studies are presented on Southern Africa Eastern Africa India China South America North America and Australia. The concluding chapter examines a set of themes arising from the chapters that make up the bulk of this book. The following provide a focus recent history of grassland biomes brief recap of current thinking and recent trends with special reference to dry grasslands in the Palearctic regions the current status of grasslands and germplasm resources biodiversity an overview management systems that ensure sustainability how to recover degraded grasslands socio economic issues and considerations in grassland management the impacts of environmental problems in grasslands such as future climate change and intensification and the problems prospects facing pastoralists and other grassland based livestock producers.

Prairie Birds Paul A. Johnsgard, 2001
 Johnsgard provides an overview of the history current status and uncertain future of prairie birds from falcons and shorebirds to larks and sparrows. Some are intercontinental migrants that winter in South America others sedentary species or short distance travelers that may frequent the grasslands of Mexico. Johnsgard describes each species its features habits habitats migratory patterns and breeding season ecology.

Botany Norman Taylor, 1922 Grasslands Ecology Richard H. Kesel, 1975 Kansas Breeding Bird Atlas William H. Busby, John L. Zimmerman, 2001. The Kansas Breeding Bird Atlas represents the efforts of 180 volunteers who diligently sought out birds over a period of six years observing their behavior and locating active nests and fledged young throughout the state whether in tallgrass prairies riparian forests or wetlands. In addition to these efforts Busby and Zimmerman gathered a wealth of information relating the volunteers observations to ecological factors affecting the birds habitat selection.
