Schools And The Changing World Struggling Towards The Future:

Schools and the Changing World Benjamin Levin, Anthony Riffel, 2019-10-20 Suggestions are constantly being made both in the popular media and academic literature about the kinds of changes schools should make The research in this text shows that schools are primarily inward looking organizations and would benefit from better ways of understanding the changes surrounding them and the pressures on them This text offers theoretical discussion of the ideas around the topic and a set of suggestions for thinking about them Schools and the Changing World Benjamin Levin, J. A. Riffel, 1997 Suggestions are constantly being made about the kinds of changes schools should make Research in this text shows that schools are primarily inward looking and would benefit from a better understanding of the changes surrounding them and the pressures on them The Sharp Edge of Educational Change Nina Bascia, Andy Hargreaves, 2014-01-14 The Sharp Edge of Educational Change conveys the realities of reform as they affect educators practice The collected chapters each focus on particular current reform and reveal the technical and logistical complications social and political dynamics cognitive disjunctures and limitations and emotional demands of reform In so doing they provide new and rich conceptual perspectives on the contemporary nature of teachers and administrators work in classrooms schools and other educational settings Educational Management Harry Tomlinson, 2004 This collection explores historical and present day issues in education management the training and development of leaders and their roles in leading people and managing resources and provides a focus on the major management issues which are current throughout the education world The articles reprinted here include the management of applied individual psychology organizational psychology individual interpersonal and group interaction personality theory leadership theory and organization theory Education in Times of Transition David Coulby, Robert Cowen, Crispin Jones, 2000 The yearbook takes as its starting point the context of the new millennium the collapse of the Soviet Empire the continuing rise of the Pacific Rim particularly of the People s Republic of China the new energy of the USA the UK Germany the renaissance of Islamic states The yearbook will pose the question are there educational patterns educational lessons to be learned within these major political economic transitions some of which have tipped into crisis all of which have been traumatic Second International Handbook of Educational Leadership and Administration Kenneth A. Leithwood, P. Hallinger, 2012-12-06 The first International Handbook of Educational Leadership and Administration Leithwood et al was published in 1996 and quickly became something of a best seller for reference works within education Such success we suggest was at least partly due to the unprecedented global waves of concern for improving schools launched in the mid 1980 s combined with a widespread belief in leadership as the single most powerful contribution to such improvement The roots of this belief can be found in evidence produced by the early effective schools research although there is a romance with leadership as an explanation for success in many non school enterprises as well During the two year period during which this current handbook was being written activity in the realms of school leadership school improvement and leadership development gained further momentum The English government created its new National College of School Leadership and several Asian nations announced new initiatives in leadership selection preparation and development
