Reinventing Nature Responses To Postmodern Deconstruction:

Reinventing Nature? Michael E. Soulé, Gary Lease, 1995-01-01 How much of science is culturally constructed How much depends on language and metaphor How do our ideas about nature connect with reality Can nature be reinvented through theme parks and malls or through restoration Reinventing Nature is an interdisciplinary investigation of how perceptions and conceptions of nature affect both the individual experience and society's management of nature Leading thinkers from a variety of fields philosophy psychology sociology public policy forestry and others address the conflict between perception and reality of nature each from a different perspective The editors of the volume provide an insightful introductory chapter that places the book in the context of contemporary debates and a concluding chapter that brings together themes and draws conclusions from the dialogue In addition to the editors contributors include Albert Borgmann David Graber N Katherine Hayles Stephen R Kellert Gary P Nabhan Paul Shepard and Donald Worster Technology and the Good Life? Eric Higgs, Andrew Light, David Strong, 2010-12-15 Can we use technology in the pursuit of a good life or are we doomed to having our lives organized and our priorities set by the demands of machines and systems How can philosophy help us to make technology a servant rather than a master Technology and the Good Life uses a careful collective analysis of Albert Borgmann's controversial and influential ideas as a jumping off point from which to address questions such as these about the role and significance of technology in our lives Contributors both sympathetic and critical examine Borgmann's work especially his device paradigm apply his theories to new areas such as film agriculture design and ecological restoration and consider the place of his thought within philosophy and technology studies more generally Because this collection carefully investigates the issues at the heart of how we can take charge of life with technology it will be a landmark work not just for philosophers of technology but for students and scholars in the many disciplines concerned with science and technology studies Postmodern Climate Change Leigh Glover, 2007-01-24 A much needed analysis of international climate change politics as a key issue of modernity and in the context of environmentalism Leigh Glover presents a new way to understand the climate change problem and is concerned with problems of modernity and postmodernity in the context of contemporary environmental thought Focusing on the international politics surrounding the UN agreement of climate change the Framework Convention on Climate Change and its Kyoto Protocol Glover examines the issue using the key aspects of climate change science global environmental politics and global environmental management Nature's Experts Stephen Bocking, 2004 Annotation Explores the contributions and challenges presented when scientific authority enters the realm of environmental affairs Practical examples and case studies illustrate that science must be relevant credible and democratic Making Political Ecology Rod Neumann, 2014-05-12 Making Political Ecology presents a comprehensive view of an important new field in human geography and interdisciplinary studies of nature society relations Tracing the development of political ecology from its origins in geography and ecological anthropology in the 1970s to its current status as an established field the book investigates how late twentieth century developments in social and ecological theories are brought together to create a powerful framework for comprehending environmental problems Making Political Ecology argues for an inclusionary conceptualization of the field which absorbs empirical studies from urban rural First World and Third World contexts and the theoretical insights of feminism poststructuralism neo Marxism and non equilibrium ecology Throughout the book excerpts from the writings of key figures in political ecology provide an empirical grounding for abstract theoretical concepts Making Political Ecology will convince readers of political ecology s particular suitability for grappling with the most difficult questions concerning social justice environmental change and human relationships with nature Symptom, Symbol, and the Other of Language Bret Alderman, 2015-12-22 Every statement about language is also a statement by and about psyche Guided by this primary assumption and inspired by the works of Carl Jung in Symptom Symbol and the Other of Language Bret Alderman delves deep into the symbolic and symptomatic dimensions of a deconstructive postmodernism infatuated with semiotics and the workings of linguistic signs This book offers an important exploration of linguistic reference and representation through a Jungian understanding of symptom and symbol using techniques including amplification dream interpretation and symbolic attitude Focusing on Ferdinand de Saussure Jacques Derrida Michel Foucault and Richard Rorty Alderman examines the common belief that words and their meaning are grounded purely in language instead envisioning a symptomatic expression of alienation and collective dissociation Drawing upon the nascent field of ecopsychology the modern disciplines of phenomenology and depth psychology and the ancient knowledge of myth and animistic cosmologies Alderman dares us to re imagine some of the more sacrosanct concepts of the contemporary intellectual milieu informed by semiotics and the linguistic turn Symptom Symbol and the Other of Language is essential reading for academics and students engaged in the study of depth psychology However the interdisciplinary approach of the work ensures that it will also be of great interest to those researching and studying in the areas of ethology ecopsychology philosophy linguistics and mythology

EDRA; Proceedings of the Annual Environmental Design Research Association Conference Environmental Design Research Association, 2005 Nontimber Forest Products in the United States Eric T. Jones, Rebecca Jean McLain, James F. Weigand, 2002 A quiet revolution is taking place in America s forests Once seen primarily as stands of timber our woodlands are now prized as a rich source of a wide range of commodities from wild mushrooms and maple sugar to hundreds of medicinal plants whose uses have only begun to be fully realized Now as timber harvesting becomes more mechanized and requires less labor the image of the lumberjack is being replaced by that of the forager This book provides the first comprehensive examination of nontimber forest products NTFPs in the United States illustrating their diverse importance describing the people who harvest them and outlining the steps that are being taken to ensure access to them As the first extensive national overview of NTFP policy and management specific to the United States it brings together research from numerous disciplines and analytical perspectives such as economics mycology history ecology law entomology forestry geography and anthropology in order to provide a cohesive picture of the current and potential role of NTFPs The contributors review the state of scientific knowledge of NTFPs by offering a survey of commercial and noncommercial products an overview of uses and users and discussions of sustainable management issues associated with ecology cultural traditions forest policy and commerce They examine some of the major social economic and biological benefits of NTFPs while also addressing the potential negative consequences of NTFP harvesting on forest ecosystems and on NTFP species populations Within this wealth of information are rich accounts of NTFP use drawn from all parts of the American landscape from the Pacific Northwest to the Caribbean From honey production to a review of nontimber forest economies still active in the United States such as the Ojibway harvest of plants recounted here the book takes in the whole breadth of recent NTFP issues including ecological concerns associated with the expansion of NTFP markets and NTFP tenure issues on federally managed lands No other volume offers such a comprehensive overview of NTFPs in North America By examining all aspects of these products it contributes to the development of more sophisticated policy and management frameworks for not only ensuring their ongoing use but also protecting the future of our forests Hunger for the Wild Michael L. Johnson, 2007 Americans have had an enduring yet ambivalent obsession with the West as both a place and a state of mind Michael L.
