Rejuvenating The Humanities:

Rejuvenating the Humanities Ray Broadus Browne, Marshall William Fishwick, 1992 The humanities are the human elements in any culture In the West these humanities have ordinarily been anchored in and derivative of Eurocentric culture and have been centered on elite and art related subjects As such they have strengthened and perpetuated elite culture and have been restricted and narrow in their point of view They have enervated the modern humanities which in a democratic society insist on having democratic humanities Democratic humanities demand a new point of view which demands respect for and dignity to the common aspects of culture as well as inclusion of those elements It is time the call went ringing through the land The Old is Sick Please Bring Assistance Rejuvenate the humanities The essays in this volume are Assistance an effort to demonstrate the inalienable need for new subjects in the humanities canon and the value of those subjects as parts of the New Humanities The twenty essays in this effort to bring new vitality to the humanities range through fields familiar in life but unfamiliar in the humanities canon They include leisure folk cultures material culture pornography comics animal rights Black studies travelling and of course the bugbear of academics television The authors include some of the outstanding scholar observers of today all of whom address their subjects in cool dispassionate and convincing reason The subject of revitalizing the Humanities is important indeed This volume will go a long way toward alerting the intellectual community to the desperate need to bring new understanding to the study of the modern humanities Eye on the Future Marilyn Ferris Motz, 1994 Emerging from the conference on The Future of Popular Culture Studies in the Twenty First Century held in June of 1992 at Bowling Green Ohio to honor the academic career of Ray Browne retired chair Department of Popular Culture Bowling Green State U and to chart Popular Culture Studies into the next century this collection of essays includes five of Browne s signal articles and a Ray Browne bibliography Paper edition unseen 18 95 Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR Envisioning the Future of Doctoral Education Chris M. Golde, George E. Walker, 2006-01-30 The development of students as stewards of the discipline should be the purpose of doctoral education A steward is a scholar in the fullest sense of the term someone who can imaginatively generate new knowledge critically conserve valuable and useful ideas and responsibly transform those understandings through writing teaching and application Stewardship also has an ethical and moral dimension it is a role that transcends a collection of accomplishments and skills A steward is someone to whom the vigor quality and integrity of the field can be entrusted The most important period of a steward s formation occurs during formal doctoral education Envisioning the Future of Doctoral Education is a collection of essays commissioned for the Carnegie Initiative on the Doctorate The question posed to the essayists in this volume was If you could start de novo what would be the best way to structure doctoral education in your field to prepare stewards of the discipline The authors of the essays are respected thinkers researchers and scholars who are experienced with and thoughtful about doctoral education The essays in this lively and provocative volume focus on six fields of study chemistry education English history mathematics and neuroscience Three commentaries look across the broad themes of the essays and consider the implications for action for institutional leaders faculty members and graduate and postdoctoral students Each of the book s essayists consider the goals and purposes of doctoral education in their particular field and offer new and invigorating ideas about the doctorate Taken together the essays in the volume provide opportunities to compare and contrast doctoral education among the disciplines The essays provide ideas for fruitful practice a perspective on doctoral education as a larger enterprise and visions of what is possible for the future

History in the Digital Age Toni Weller, 2013 The digital age is affecting all aspects of historical study but much of the existing literature about history in the digital age can be alienating to the traditional historian who does not necessarily value or wish to embrace digital resources History in the Digital Age takes a more conceptual look at how the digital age is affecting the field of history for both scholars and students The printed copy the traditional archive and analogue research remain key constitute parts for most historians and for many will remain precious and esteemed over digital copies but there is a real need for historians and students of history to seriously consider some of the conceptual and methodological challenges facing the field of historical enquiry as we enter the twenty first century Including international contributors from a variety of disciplines History English Information Studies and Archivists this book does not seek either to applaud or condemn digital technologies but takes a more conceptual view of how the field of history is being changed by the digital age Essential reading for all historians Community and Junior College Journal, 1979

Communications Library,1992-10 Metacognition, Metahumanities, and Medical Education Alan Bleakley,Quentin Eichbaum,Rachel Ellaway,2024-09-30 This persuasive volume develops a novel approach to medical education and the medical humanities making a case for the integration of the two to explore the ways in which warm humanism and cold technologies can come together to design humane posthumanist futures in medicine There are many problems with conventional medical education It can be overly technocratic dehumanizing and empathy eroding introducing artefacts that lead to harm and reproduce inequality and injustice Use of the arts humanities and qualitative social sciences have been pursued as an antidote or balance to these problems Arguing against the purely instrumentalist use of medical humanities in this way this book addresses the importance of a genuine and open ended engagement with humanities approaches in medicine It discusses the impact of artificial intelligence and emerging theoretical frameworks and posthumanist perspectives such as object oriented ontology on meaning making in medicine It demonstrates how the key to such a transition is the recovery of the intrinsic art and humanity of metaphor heavy biomedical science in turn framed by models of dynamic complexity rather than static linearity This book is an important contribution to debates around the medical humanities and its role in medical education It is an essential read for scholars with an interest in these areas as well as those working in science and technology studies and the sociology of health and illness Popular Culture in the United States Peter Freese,Michael Porsche,1994 Department of the Interior and Related Agencies Appropriations for 1983 United States.
