Regional Development: Theory and Practice Baleshwar Thakur, H.S. Sharma, Suresh Misra, S. Chattopadhyay, Surendra Singh, 2017-01-01 The Five Volume Series on Regional Development Theory and Practice is a festschrift dedicated to Professor R P Misra a distinguished scholar widely recognized as one of the pioneers who initiated and promoted Regional Planning studies in India This five volume series with over one hundred research papers on different aspects of regional development is a fitting tribute to the scholar who spent much of his life time thinking researching and writing about development in general and regional development in particular These five volumes each dealing with a specific aspect of regional development Vol 1 Concept of Regional Development Vol 2 Measuring Development Vol 3 Development Patterns and Structures Vol 4 Development Policies and Vol 5 Development Challenges Each of the five volumes begins with an introduction which is unique in the sense that this is not merely an introduction to the contributions contained in the volume but also talks of the theory of regional development contemporary development in the discipline and the contrarian views expressed by various academics and policy makers Another significant aspect of these introductions is the global view and a comparative scenario of the developed developing and under developed economies of the world that the editors have kept in view in a debate seeking an universal theory of regional development Regions are specifics and often unique and regional development implies focusing on the assets of the territory its potential and constraints

Regional Imperatives in Utilization and Management of Resources Shah Manzoor Alam, Atiya Habeeb Kidwai, 1987 Papers presented at the Indo Soviet Seminar on Regionalisation for the Rational Utilisation Conservation and Management of Hydro Resources for Integrated and Comprehensive Regional Development held at Dushanbe USSR in September 1985

Industrial Development of Siberia and the Soviet Far East Donne E. Pinsky, 1984 During the 1980s the Soviet leadership will be forced to cope with a growing energy shortage in the western industrialized core of the USSR by accelerating the extraction of fuel and raw materials east of the Urals The major issue of Soviet policy is and has been the debate over the appropriate nature and pace of economic development for the eastern regions whether to maintain concentration on the fuel energy complex or to attempt balanced development across industries and between eastern and western regions Although official declaratory policy continues to call for balanced comprehensive development the energy fuel focus has if anything increased Given the general investment constraint the Soviet leadership is now facing combined with the Soviet leadership's resistance to reform and change it is unlikely that there will take place the major shift and restructuring of investment for regions east of the Urals that a balanced economic development would require
