Pioneer Plastic The Making And Selling Of Celluloid:

Pioneer Plastic Robert Douglas Friedel,1983 In 1869 an Albany printer discovered how to mix nitrocellulose with camphor under high pressure to yield a hard shiny moldable substance which he and his brother called celluloid This discovery was the dawn of the Plastics Age but it represented only the first step in establishing a new technology Examines the 20 years of laboratory trial and error that produced the first artificial plastic as well as the equally difficult challenge of selling the product to a public that wasn't sure what to use it for He shows how the struggle to find uses for the new material and to create markets for it was as significant as solving the problems of making it Illustrated Pioneer Plastic Robert D.
