Imperial spaces takes two of the most influential minority groups of white settlers in the British Empire the Irish and the Scots and explores how they imagined themselves within the landscapes of its farthest reaches the Australian colonies of Victoria and New South Wales Using letters and diaries as well as records of collective activities such as committee meetings parades and dinners the book examines how the Irish and Scots built new identities as settlers in the unknown spaces of Empire Utilizing critical geographical theories of place as the site of memory and agency it considers how Irish and Scots settlers grounded their sense of belonging in the imagined landscapes of south east Australia Imperial spaces is relevant to academics and students interested in the history and geography of the British Empire Australia Ireland and Scotland

Ireland and Irish-Australia Oliver MacDonagh, W. F. Mandle, 2024-09-02 The Irish contribution to Australian history goes both deep and wide Originally published in 1986 the essays in this collection contribute both to the understanding of Ireland's place in Australian history and to the interpretation of the Irish scene in the nineteenth century Ranging from law to W B Yeats and from monumental sculpture to violence and crime the papers reflect the diversity of the Irish Australian experience and the persistence of a distinctively Irish culture even when transported across the world Augustiniana, 1977 Brother P.A. O'Donoghue, 1983 Die Konzilien in Australien, 1842-1917 Ian Benjamin Waters, 1994 Oceans of Consolation David Fitzpatrick, 2019-06-30 An ocean of consolation was what one young Irish emigrant in rural Australia called a letter from his father in County Clare in 1855 Similar strength of feeling is often found in the intriguing letters that David Fitzpatrick has unearthed for this extraordinary collection Oceans of Consolation offers historians and family researchers novel and sophisticated ways of reading old letters It opens to us the daily preoccupations of ordinary women and men with little education and fewer material possessions as they try to overcome the separation from family and friends created by emigration Fitzpatrick includes the personal correspondence of fourteen families of Irish emigrants in the Australian colonies giving equal attention to letters to and from Australia He reproduces in full more than one hundred letters dating from 1843 to 1906 and includes a generous selection of contemporary engravings and photographs Fitzpatrick's detailed commentaries offer biographical narratives for all of these emigrants tracing their Irish backgrounds and Australian careers Parting company with editors of comparable collections he pays special attention to the words and idiom by which letterwriters expressed their everyday concerns and sought or offered reassurance and advice He believes that personal letters provide not only unique evidence of
