

DID PIRATES ACTUALLY WEAR EYE PATCHES?

The most common explanation for why pirates wore eye patches is for dark adaptation. When a person's eye is not used to bright light after spending long periods in darkness, they may experience discomfort and impaired vision. By covering one eye with an eye patch, they could quickly adjust their vision from dark to light settings or vice versa.

THE HISTORY OF THE EYE PATCH

The eye patch has a long and storied past. It is believed to have originated with the Ancient Greeks, who used them while out at sea to protect their eyes from glare and dust.
