3	13	Thursday, May 2, 2024
Final Exam		TBD

Course Objectives:

We will be building on the knowledge and skill set you started to develop in Chem 111. We will be building an understanding of the principles that govern the fundamentals of chemistry. We are not simply memorizing facts; we are looking to build comprehension of the course material so that it can be applied in future courses.

The most important thing to always remember to help you achieve this goal of comprehension and understanding is to ask questions. Please never feel that a question is silly or irrelevant! If you have a question I promise you someone else is in the same situation. Ask away! There are many avenues you can pursue to have your questions answered, whether it is to come to my office hours, see a TA, ask a peer, going to the LRC for tutoring, or attending an SI session. Please use whichever option you are most comfortable with. The goal again is to build understanding and comprehension, having unanswered questions will never allow you to achieve your full potential!

Course Prerequisites

CHEM 111, 121H with a grade of "C-" or better.

There will be some minor reviewing of material from these courses as needed, but I assume you to have a working knowledge of the material covered in them.

Course Material
