Place And Persistence In The Lives Of Newfoundland Women:

Feminisms and Ruralities Barbara Pini, Berit Brandth, Jo Little, 2014-12-18 Feminist concern with difference has rarely extended to rurality even if it is now widely recognized that experiences of inequality depend on intersections of several identities in each individual life This lack of concern may reflect the urban background of the majority of feminist academics or at least their urban positionality once in the academy It may equivalently be that feminists have been influenced by stereotypes of rural women as traditional and reactionary and thus seen them as unlikely exponents of gender equality and an unfruitful focus for scholarly energies Perhaps the problem is a broader one that is reflective of the much documented but still apparent unwillingness of many feminists to recognize and address difference in any of its manifestations Regardless even with the recent interest in intersectionality which has necessarily renewed and reenergized debates in feminism about diversity and inclusion the question of how women are differently positioned because of their non metropolitan location has remained largely overlooked

Their Lives and Times Carmelita McGrath, Barbara Neis, Marilyn Porter, 1995 Their Lives and Times brings together in one place a lively mix of perspectives including previously published work and new research literary and scholarly work It will be equally at home in an academic setting or on the bookshelf of any reader interested in the diversity of women s experiences and the ways in which these experiences have been explored in new research and literature

Fishing Places, Fishing People Dianne Newell, Rosemary E. Ommer, Rosemary Ommer, 1999-01-01 Using case studies drawn from across Canada the papers demonstrate that there are many shared issues in the various small scale fisheries of this country and locate small scale fisheries in their historical context as well as in that of global concerns

Rural Women's Health Beverly D. Leipert, Belinda Leach, Wilfreda E. Thurston, 2012-01-01 The well being of rural communities affects the well being of those who reside in towns and cities because of rural urban connections through food drinking water infectious disease extreme environmental events recreation and for many retirement residence In rural areas themselves women play a critical role in the health of their families and communities yet women s health is often marginalized or ignored There have been limited studies to date about rural women and health in Canada Filling an important gap in scholarship this collection identifies priority issues that must be addressed to ensure these women s well being and offers innovative theoretical and methodological ideas for improvement Rural Women s Health integrates perspectives from rural practitioners residents and scholars in a variety of fields including nursing sociology anthropology and geography to tackle issues relevant to diverse settings across the country As such it presents a national perspective on the nature of women s health while respecting internal and regional diversity as well as viewpoints from international scholarship

Social Transformation in Rural Canada John Parkins, Maureen Reed, 2012-10-20 The rapidly changing nature of life in Canadian rural communities is more than a simple response to economic conditions People living in rural places are part of a new social agenda characterized by transformation of livelihoods landscapes and social relations inviting us to reconsider the meanings of community culture and citizenship This volume presents the work of researchers from a variety of fields who explore social transformation in rural settlements across the country The essays collectively generate a nuanced portrait of how local forms of action adaptation identity and imagination are reshaping aboriginal and non aboriginal communities of rural Canada

Transdisciplinarity for Small-Scale Fisheries Governance Ratana Chuenpagdee, Svein Jentoft, 2018-10-15 The importance of small scale fisheries for sustainable livelihoods and communities food security and poverty eradication is indisputable With the endorsement of the Voluntary Guidelines for Securing Sustainable Small Scale Fisheries FAO member states recognize that governments civil society organizations and research communities all have a role to play in helping small scale fisheries achieve these goals This book argues that policies targeting small scale fisheries need to be based on a solid and holistic knowledge foundation and support the building of governance capacity at local national and global levels The book provides rich illustrations from around the world of why such knowledge production needs to be transdisciplinary drawing from multiple disciplinary perspectives and the knowledge that small scale fisheries actors have in order to identify problems and explore innovative solutions

Transdisciplinarity for Small Scale Fisheries Governance Analysis and Practice edited by Ratana Chuenpagdee and Svein Jentoft successfully demonstrates how small scale fisheries are important and what social and political conditions are conducive to their wellbeing The volume contributes tremendously to building capacity of fisheries communities and policy makers to make the ideals of small scale fisheries a reality It establishes the ecological social and economic sense behind small scale fisheries A milestone reference for all those who believe in small scale fisheries and are keen to defend them with quality evidence Sebastian Mathew Executive Director International Collective in Support of Fishworkers ICSF The Small Scale Fisheries Guidelines guiding principles call for holistic and integrated approaches for their implementation This book will help a new generation of scientists policy makers and small scale fisheries actors make the fundamental connections between different disciplines in science traditional knowledge and policy to guide a collective process towards sustainable small scale fisheries The book contains an inspiring collection of practical cases from around the world complemented by deep dives into dimensions of small scale fisheries like food security stewardship climate change and gender which all call for transdisciplinary approaches

Despite this Loss Elizabeth Yeoman, Ursula Anne Kelly, 2010 This collection includes a variety of forms art photography personal narrative translation and cross disciplinary scholarly essay to discuss many levels and kinds of loss cultural assimilation and change environmental devastation language loss personal and collective losses community tragedies and a loss of continuity and sense of home and place The book as a whole considers the impact of these losses and their relationship to culture memory and identity As part of this consideration Despite This Loss celebrates and supports new and established lines of inquiry into the structures of feeling that constitute place and belonging The collection includes work by a new generation of cultural workers whose claims to and dreams for this place hold promise and provide a vibrant and provocative array of perspectives on cultural loss Cahiers de la Femme, 2002 Acadiensis, 1996 LLT, 2000 Pakistan Journal of Women's Studies, 2006 Gender and Education in a Life Perspective Gunilla Bjerén, Inga Elgqvist-Saltzman, 1994 Reports the findings of the social science research project HEKLA on such questions as how women in Scandinavia take advantage of the educational opportunities open to them and how society puts their learning to use The perspective from a culture with long traditions of gender equality may help others attain greater equality Most of the nine papers were presented at an international symposium in Stockholm October 1991 No index Distributed in the US by Ashgate Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR Narratives at Work Linda Kathleen Cullum, 2003 This book is both an account of a specific labour process and its workers and a study of how the working class women and men of Job Brothers recounted stories of their work and domestic lives and thus fashioned shifting identities as gendered classed and racialized subjects In addition the author analyzes her subjects with a relexivity that seeks to understand her influence on those she has studied as well as their influence on her Place and Persistence in the Lives of Newfoundland Women Marilyn Porter, 1993 Newfoundland is a little known island which lies in the cold Labrador current off the Atlantic coast of Canada While its proximity to the valuable Grand Banks fisheries made it one of the earliest parts of North America to be settled by Europeans Newfoundlanders this text argues have endured centuries of poverty and exploitation It contends that the brief burst of prosperity that followed their entry into the Canadian federation has now foundered in the present economic recession and the collapse of the fishery and that life in Newfoundland has returned to what it has always been a struggle for survival in a harsh environment Labouring the Canadian Millennium Bryan D. Palmer, Canadian Committee on Labour History, 2000 This is a collection of commissioned essays that are purposively eclectic but that address themes of importance in understanding labour's significance and history over the course of the last century as well as suggesting how labour will inevitably face changing circumstances Healthways Raoul Andersen, J. K. Crellin, Bernard O'Dwyer, 1998 Healthways began as an exploration of changing health care beliefs and practices in Newfoundland during the first half of the twentieth century The authors an anthropologist a folklorist and a medical doctor sought to capture the changes through the voices of those who participated in them Atlantic Canada Margaret Conrad, James Hiller, 2001 Having long combined a profound sense of place pride and optimism with a fatalistic resignation today the people of Atlantic Canada are increasingly coming to share a determination to overcome their position as poor cousins within the Canadian federation Atlantic Canada tells the story of the region from its geological origins through its settlers Aboriginal and European to their descendants lives on a series of margins first of the French and British empires then of Confederation now of the global free market Changing Tides Barbara Neis, 2005 Fisheries are among the most globalized economic sectors in the world Relying largely on wild resources and employing millions of people and feeding many millions more fisheries provide a unique vantage point from which to view contemporary globalization which is co occurring with a major ecological revolution triggered by resource degradation and associated with the development of intensive aquaculture Globalization is intensifying the export orientation and use of joint ventures between rich and poor countries in fisheries International organizations such as the IMF are pressuring many debtor countries to exchange access to their fishery resources for access to foreign exchange constraining their ability to limit external ownership and the export of resources and threatening local fishery employment and food self sufficiency Changing Tides brings together contributions from researchers and community workers from 13 countries of the world Juxtaposing academic case studies with accounts from activists and fisheries workers this book points the ways in which globalization and associated resource degradation privatization and the concentration of ownership and control in fisheries are jeopardizing the lives and livelihoods of women fish workers and their families Learning to Leave Michael John Corbett, 2007 It has been argued that if education is to be democratic and serve the purpose of social and cultural elevation then it must be generic and transcend the specificity of the locale This work shows that continuing rates of high school drop out among youth in rural and coastal communities among young men illustrates the failure of this approach

Feminizing the Unions Sheila Cunnison, Jane Stageman, 1993 Analyses the position of women in the trade union movement Examines ways in which masculine culture pervades the union movement and supports structures of male power and dominance suppressing women s voices and subordinating their concerns Draws attention to the challenges women make to the culture of masculinity and their attempts to operate through their own culture of femininity
