Technophobia! Daniel Dinello,2006-01-01 Techno heaven or techno hell If you believe many scientists working in the emerging fields of twenty first century technology the future is blissfully bright Initially human bodies will be perfected through genetic manipulation and the fusion of human and machine later human beings will completely shed the shackles of pain disease and even death as human minds are downloaded into death free robots whereby they can live forever in a heavenly posthuman existence In this techno utopian future humanity will be saved by the godlike power of technology If you believe the authors of science fiction however posthuman evolution marks the beginning of the end of human freedom values and identity Our dark future will be dominated by mad scientists rampaging robots killer clones and uncontrollable viruses In this timely new book Daniel Dinello examines the dramatic conflict between the techno utopia promised by real world scientists and the techno dystopia predicted by science fiction Organized into chapters devoted to robotics bionics artificial intelligence virtual reality biotechnology nanotechnology and other significant scientific advancements this book summarizes the current state of each technology while presenting corresponding reactions in science fiction Dinello draws on a rich range of material including films television books and computer games and argues that science fiction functions as a valuable corrective to technological domination countering techno hype and reflecting the weaponized religiously rationalized profit fueled motives of such science By imaging a disastrous future of posthuman techno totalitarianism science fiction encourages us to construct ways to contain new technology and asks its audience perhaps the most important question of the twenty first century is technology out of control Die welt der dienste 2 Andreas W. Mytze,2002 Weapons of Mass Destruction William Dudley,2005 Presents a collection of cartoons and caricatures accompanied by background and analysis about the subject of weapons of mass destruction Biological Terrorism and Weapons of Mass Destruction Gary E. McCuen,1999 Essays and articles by scientists military officers politicians and others present various opinions on biological terrorism and chemical warfare Biological and Chemical Weapons Stuart A. Kallen,2006 News of chemical and bioweapons makes frequent headlines as the government increases bio research largely in an attempt to prevent future terrorist attacks This anthology sheds light on a vital issue with a range of opinions from researchers journalists weapons experts and politicians Terrorism and Weapons of Mass Destruction Bruce Hoffman,1999 Although the conventional wisdom previously held that terrorists were more interested in publicity than in killing recent terrorist attacks such as the 1995 nerve gas attack in a Tokyo subway and the bombing of a federal government office building in Oklahoma City have either crossed into the domain of use of weapons of mass destruction WMD or involved the deliberate infliction of large numbers of casualties This paper examines three reasons that may account for terrorism s increasing lethality 1 the proliferation of religious terrorism in which violence assumes a transcendental dimension 2 the rise of amateur terrorists loosely organized groups of individuals with particular grievances who are able to gain WMD expertise from publicly available sources and 3 the growing sophistication and competence of professional terrorist organizations A confluence of new motives opportunities and capabilities could impel any of these groups to employ a chemical biological or nuclear weapon or radioactive device Given even the possibility of future terrorist use of such weapons no nation can afford to consider terrorism to be among its least serious or complex of security issues Secrets and Lies Gordon Thomas,2008
