Plagues On Our Doorstep The Threat Of Infectious Disease In New Zealand:

Plagues on Our Doorstep Jason Eberhart-Phillips, 1999-01-01 Plagues on Our Doorstep offers a straightforward framework that explains why infectious diseases appear when and where they do Drawing on examples of key emerging infections this book makes sense of the variety of perils we face from the unseen worlds of viruses bacteria and other infectious agents About the Author Jason Eberhart Phillips MD is a senior lecturer in the Department of Preventive and Social Medicine at Otago University Dunedin Formerly he worked as a disease detective for the Epidemic Intelligence Service of the US Centers for Disease Control and Prevention The Cult and Science of Public Health Kevin Dew, 2012 In contemporary manifestations of public health rituals and events people are being increasingly united around what they hold in common their material being and humanity As a cult of humanity public health provides a moral force in society that replaces traditional religions in times of great diversity or heterogeneity of peoples activities and desires This is in contrast to public health s foundation in science particularly the science of epidemiology The rigid rules of scientific evidence used to determine the cause of illness and disease can work against the most vulnerable in society by putting sectors of the population such as underrepresented workers at a disadvantage This study focuses on this tension between traditional science and the changing vision articulated within public health and across many disciplines that calls for a collective response to uncontrolled capitalism and unremitting globalization and to the way in which health inequalities and their association with social inequalities provides a political rhetoric that calls for a new redistributive social programme Drawing on decades of research the author argues that public health is both a cult and a science of contemporary society

Scott, 1984 Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2000 Canadian Periodical Index ,1995 The Farm At Black Hills Beverley Forrester, 2015-04-02 An engaging woman against the odds story about an entrepreneurial South Island sheep farmer When Beverley Forrester s beloved husband Jim died unexpectedly not only did she have to deal with her grief but she suddenly had a farm to run too Although she had grown up in a farming family she herself had trained and worked as an occupational therapist for many years So there was a lot to learn and new tasks to undertake not least the need to win the trust of Jim's loyal farm workers and the community in the close knit North Canterbury area. She set to work and with the help of those around her she learned to farm and has also developed a successful brand of natural coloured undyed chemical free yarns sold internationally and her own fashion label which debuted at New Zealand Fashion Week.
