Second Language Acquisition and the Younger Learner Jenefer

Philp, Rhonda Oliver, Alison Mackey, 2008 This new volume of work highlights the distinctiveness of child SLA through a collection of different types of empirical research specific to younger learners Characteristics of children's cognitive emotional and social development distinguish their experiences from those of adult L2 learners creating intriguing issues for SLA research and also raising important practical questions regarding effective pedagogical techniques for learners of different ages While child SLA is often typically thought of as simple and often enjoyable and universally effortless in other words as children play the complex portraits of young second language learners which emerge in the 16 papers collected in this book invite the reader to reconsider the reality for many younger learners Chapters by internationally renowned authors together with reports by emerging researchers describe second and foreign language learning by children ranging from pre schoolers to young adolescents in home and school contexts with caregivers peers and teachers as interlocutors

Second-language Acquisition in Childhood: School-age children Barry McLaughlin, 1984

Bilingual

Development in Childhood Annick De Houwer, 2021-05-13 In the first decade of life children become bilingual in different language learning environments Many children start learning two languages from birth Bilingual First Language Acquisition In early childhood hitherto monolingual children start hearing a second language through daycare or preschool Early Second Language Acquisition Yet other hitherto monolingual children in middle childhood may acquire a second language only after entering school Second Language Acquisition This Element explains how these different language learning settings dynamically affect bilingual children's language learning trajectories All children eventually learn to speak the societal language but they often do not learn to fluently speak their non societal language and may even stop speaking it Children's and families' harmonious bilingualism is threatened if bilingual children do not develop high proficiency in both languages Educational institutions and parental conversational practices play a pivotal role in supporting harmonious bilingual development

Second Language Acquisition in Childhood B. McLaughlin, 2013-10-28 First published in 1987

Throughout human history learning a second language has been an important part of the educational process From ancient times to the present school children have had to struggle to learn a second language and in many cases third and fourth languages To be educated meant to know a language other than the language of one's family and community The contemporary American educational system is one of the few in recorded history that allows its products to remain monolingual

Current Trends in Child Second Language Acquisition Belma Haznedar, Elena Gavruseva, 2008 This volume presents recent generative research on the nature of grammars of child second language L2 acquirers a learner population whose exposure to an L2 occurs between the ages of 4 to 8 The main goal is to define child L2 acquisition in relation to other types of acquisition such as child monolingual and bilingual acquisition adult L2 acquisition and specific language impairment This comparative perspective opens up new angles for the discussion of currently debated issues such as the role of Universal Grammar in constraining development developmental sequences in L2 maturational influences on the growth of grammar critical period effects for different linguistic domains initial state and ultimate attainment in relation to length of exposure and L1 transfer in relation to age of onset These issues are explored using longitudinal cross sectional and experimental data from L2 children acquiring a range of languages including Dutch English French and Greek

Second-Language Acquisition in Childhood Barry McLaughlin, 1984 First published in 1987 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Is there a Second Chance for First Language Acquisition? Nadine Custer, 2017-08-11 Seminar paper from the year 2012 in the subject Didactics for the subject English Pedagogy Literature Studies grade 1 0 Justus Liebig University Giessen Anglistik course Psycholinguistic language English abstract The goal of this term paper is to answer the question if it is possible to achieve a later language acquisition than in the stage of a baby or a toddler like the problems so called feral children have by discovering language at a later point in life Therefore it is necessary to define and describe the terms first language acquisition and feral children first Afterwards chapter three the difference between first and second language acquisition will be clarified and it will also be mentioned why it is not possible for feral children to acquire the first language like other people acquire the second language in a later point in time To show this different cases of those children with language acquisition in extreme situations will be used to underline the thesis Do children learn second languages easier than adults? A comparative analysis of child and adult second language acquisition Kevin Salzmann, 2014-06-13 Seminar paper from the year 2014 in the subject Didactics for the subject English Pedagogy Literature Studies grade 2 3 University of Kassel Institut f r Anglistik Amerikanistik course Introduction to Second Language Acquisition language English abstract In the field of Second Language Acquisition SLA researchers often get confronted with a controversial issue Are children better second language learners than adults Do they always outperform older learners After a general introduction into the field of SLA this term paper focuses on the relevance of age in second language learning Theories of critical and sensitive periods during the learning process will be examined in order to emphasize that age has an important impact on effective SLA Afterwards specific differences in child and adult SLA will be taken into consideration how do children acquire a second language and how is it different from the acquisition of an older person By answering these questions differentiated it might be possible to come to a conclusion whether children or adults are better second language learners Second-language acquisition in childhood Barry MacLaughlin, 1984

Second-Language Acquisition in Childhood Barry McLaughlin, 1985 First published in 1987 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Early Instructed Second Language Acquisition Joanna Rokita-Jaśkow, Melanie Ellis, 2019-01-18 This book provides a holistic overview of what leads to success in foreign language learning at an early age and deepens our understanding of early foreign language learning The studies use an array of methodological approaches to research learners aged between three and ten as well as their parents and teachers in instructional minimal input settings They describe various ways of organising and promoting very early foreign language learning both through language policy and innovative pedagogy and focus on ways of providing input for second language acquisition which include oral classroom discourse strategies as well as learner development of literacy skills Special attention is given to the necessity to develop critical reading skills the ability to handle multimodal texts and attitudes motivations and behaviours and how these may impact on the teaching and learning process Chapters emphasise that ultimate outcomes depend on extra linguistic environmental factors such as parental involvement and teacher competences These include establishing control in the classroom as well as using appropriate strategies for Negotiation of Meaning and helping learners build positive self concept This book will be of interest to all professionals involved in the teaching of foreign languages to young learners as well as to researchers teacher educators and students working in this area

The Age Factor in Second Language Acquisition

David Michael Singleton,Zsolt Lengyel,1995-01-01 This book takes a hard look at some of the assumptions that are customarily made concerning the role of age in second language acquisition The evidence and arguments the contributors present run counter to the notion that an early start in second language learning is of itself either absolutely sufficient or necessary for the attainment of native like mastery of a second language Another theme of the book is a doubt that there is a particular stage of maturity beyond which language learning is no longer fully possible In short the book presents a challenge to those who take it as given that second language learning is inevitably different in its essential nature from language acquisition in the childhood years and that second language knowledge acquired beyond the critical period is in all circumstances and in all respects doomed to fossilize at a non native like level

Language Development and Age Julia Herschensohn,2012-07-19 This book was first published in 2007 The anecdotal view of language acquisition is that children learn language with apparent ease no instruction and in very little time while adults find learning a new language to be cognitively challenging labour intensive and time consuming In this book Herschensohn examines whether early childhood is a critical period for language acquisition after which individuals cannot learn a language as native speakers She argues that a first language is largely susceptible to age constraints showing major deficits past the age of twelve Second language acquisition also shows age effects but with a range of individual differences The competence of expert adult learners the unequal achievements of child learners of second languages and the lack of consistent evidence for a maturational cut off all cast doubt on a critical period for second language acquisition

Child-adult Differences in Second Language Acquisition

Stephen D. Krashen,Robin C. Scarcella,Michael H. Long,1982 Introducing Second Language Acquisition Kirsten M. Hummel,2013-12-16 Introducing Second Language Acquisition Perspectives and Practices represents a clear and concise introduction to the main concepts issues and debates in second language acquisition studies aimed specifically at undergraduates encountering the topic for the first time Follows six fictitious language learners throughout the text whose stories serve to introduce various concepts and issues Contains specific chapters on first language acquisition and bilingualism as well as explicit references to the most recent and important research Covers key topics including acquisition contexts theoretical perspectives language teaching methods second language development and individual differences such as age aptitude and motivation Grabs student attention with lighthearted cartoons that illustrate and reinforce key ideas Features a full range of pedagogical tools to aid student learning including language learning in practice textboxes bolded new terms defined in the margins an end of book glossary self assessment and classroom discussion questions exercise and project ideas and further online viewing sections

Second Language Acquisition in a Head Start Classroom Ruth Alfaro Piker, 2005

Early Years Second Language Education Sandie Mourão, Mónica Lourenço, 2014-11-20 The age for early language learning has dropped dramatically in the past decade to include children under 6 years old yet very little published research exists to support the implementation of such programmes Drawing on a synthesis of theory research and practice this edited volume makes an innovative contribution to literature concerning language education for very young children It explores language learning in a wide range of geographical contexts with reference to second and foreign language learning bilingualism and plurilingualism with children under the age of 6 years old Chapters present discussion around teacher education policy making international case studies school and home based projects code switching and language use and methodologies and approaches Early Years Second Language Education International perspectives on theory and practice will be essential reading for researchers academics teacher trainers and post graduate students in the fields of early years education foreign and second language education language didactics and teacher education

Child Second Language Acquisition Sonia Rocca, 2007 As one of the first books in child second language acquisition SLA this book focuses on the core area of tense aspect morphology reporting on three L1 Italian children learning L2 English vs three L1 English children learning L2 Italian An innovative longitudinal bidirectional research design where two languages represent both source and target show effects of language transfer in learners that because of their age still have potential to become native speakers of the target An unusual feature of this book is that relevant studies of acquisition of L2 Italian some heretofore only in Italian are reviewed incorporated into the study and made available to a more general audience Though the main focus is on child SLA crucial comparisons to both first language acquisition vs adult SLA are presented This approach will thus be of interest more generally to readers in first and second language acquisition and child development
