is more than just a fiction book it teaches us the value of friendship taking risks and keeping our word As Eli and his friends travel the world without fear to inspire and protect people they show that deeds not words are what make a promise strong Their story makes people believe in the power of every person no matter how small by showing how important it is to work together how to face your fears with courage and how strong a promise kept is Chapter 1 The Beginning of the Covenant People called Nephilim used to live in a magical and strange land They were very big and strong These giants lived in peace and harmony in the vast woods and rolling hills There were older people there who knew a lot and shared their information and stories from the past One day under a sky full of stars the big man known as the first Nephilim got his family together This man was very brave and smart He knew the problems people had to deal with because they were smaller than them People in this group often had to deal with problems that were too big for them to handle on their own like animals that were dangerous or natural disasters The Nephilim had stayed away from humans up until that point They had spent their whole lives being very strong and skilled which made it easy for them to handle such risks The first Nephilim were moved by the pain of people to decide that the giants should now help protect their smaller brothers and sisters In the moonlight he promised to respect an old oath and protect people no matter what This wasn't an easy choice because it meant that the Nephilim would always be there for humans helping out whenever they were needed even if it meant putting themselves in danger This word was a promise to be a light of hope when things are bad and to protect people who couldn't protect themselves As the first Nephilim spoke these words a mysterious power filled the room and sealed the promise not only in the Nephilim's words but also in their very being After that the promise was as important to them as the air they breathed The promise was made by a single person but it became a tradition that giants would pass down over time Every new generation learned the values of being kind taking an oath and being responsible to others The elders would tell stories about what Nephilim did in the name of the promise like how they fought dangerous animals or helped humans calm nature's anger The old oath was more than just a promise it was a promise that the Nephilim would never hurt humans It meant that strength and power were gifts that should be used to make the world a better place not just for yourself The Nephilim have been around for thousands of years because they have a history of being kind and safe They realized that the way to be truly great was to give rather than receive So the old promise lived on as a reminder of how dedicated the Nephilim were to protect humans and making sure that they would always be friends and partners to each other even when things went wrong Chapter 2 How Eli was found The young giant Eli lived in the peaceful Giant's Valley The valley has green hills and the wind blows through the big trees Eli was different from other giants because he was smaller more curious and always up for something new One day Eli found a book while looking through the back shelves of his family's huge library which is as old as the valley itself This was the first book of its kind he had ever seen This book was very old The yellowing pages showed how much time had passed and the symbols on the cover sparkled in the dim light As soon as Eli opened the book his heart was

racing with excitement as he read about bravery kindness and the first Nephilim's old promise to protect people no matter what As Eli read his eyes got bigger with shock He found the sacred promise that his ancestors had made to protect humanity and help them in their time of need The stories talked about wars that were fought to get rid of the darkness a giant's gentle hand lifting a downed tree that had ensnared a human town and the Nephilim's unwavering commitment to their word It became very important to Eli to follow in the paths of the great giants who had come before him It dawned on him that he too wanted to protect others to keep up the bravery and love that his people were known for Decisive Eli put down the book and looked out over Giant's Valley taking in the view with fresh eyes He thought about protecting people solving problems bravely and changing the world from the inside out He was thrilled to carry on such a great tradition He knew it wouldn't be easy being a guardian meant taking a lot of risks and needing to be very strong mentally and physically Eli was ready to take on the task though It dawned on him that the oath was a promise to live by moral standards and preserve the rights of those who can't do it themselves It was more than just a bunch of words Under the stars that night Eli made a promise to himself To keep the ancient bond he promised to protect people for the rest of his life just like his ancestors had done Eli made a choice that led him on a journey of excitement friendship and deep change He stayed brave even though he knew the journey ahead would be hard Following the ancient oath and his fearless heart Eli was ready to leave Giant's Valley and leave his mark as a true protector of people He would carry on the honorable tradition that had been bestowed upon him Eli was deeply committed to keeping the old promise It wasn't just a thought it gave him a sense of purpose that was unlike anything else he had ever felt He read the book from cover to cover over the next three days taking in every story of bravery and selflessness He understood that keeping the promise meant more than just keeping people safe it also meant keeping the kindness and unity that all living things shared The goal was to make a world where all species big and small could live together peacefully
