Ending ... New York (State). Office of Factory Inspectors, 1893 A Seventh Child and The Law Patrick Shuk-siu Yu, 1998-06-01 The author comes from a distinguished family in Hong Kong His father Yu Wan was an eminent figure in educational circles both before and after the Second World War In Part I of this book there is a detailed description of the unique circumstances under which the author as a matriculation student was awarded a government scholarship to enter the University of Hong Kong in 1938 Altogether unpredictably this started a chain of events which landed him in two wartime jobs in China with British Naval Intelligence and the Chinese Nationalist Army respectively After the war he won a Victory Scholarship to further his education at Oxford and finally qualify as a barrister at law He attributes his good fortune to being the seventh child of his father who was himself a seventh child Hence the title of this book Part II of this work consists of an accurate separate account of eight actual court cases handled by the author as Defence Counsel These specially chosen and cleverly captioned cases all make fascinating reading because each of them carries a distinct flavour of its own ranging from murder trials with an unexpected turn of events and a variety of fraud cases to an intriguing account of an attempt to set up an innocent traffic policeman which was only barely frustrated The manner in which the defence in each case was conducted is of particular interest Children's Rights in Africa Julia Sloth-Nielsen, 2016-05-23 This collection is anchored in an African conception of children's rights and the law and reflects contemporary discourses taking place in the region of the children's rights sphere The majority of contributors are African and adopt an individual approach to their topic which reflects their first hand experience The book focuses on child rights issues which have particular resonance on the continent and the chapters span themes which are both broad and narrow containing subject matter which is both theoretical and illuminated by practice The book profiles recent developments and experiences in furthering children's legal rights in the African context and distils from these future trends the specific role that the law can play in the African children's rights environment

International Child Law Rajnaara Akhtar, Conrad Nyamutata, Elizabeth Faulkner, 2020-04-08 This book examines the rights of the child using the global framework of the United Nations International Convention on the Rights of the Child 1989. Analysing both public and private international legal aspects, this cross-disciplinary text promotes a holistic understanding of the ongoing development of child law, children's rights, and the protection of the child. In-depth analyses of the following topic areas are included: Childhood in the digital age, Child labour, International parental child abduction, Inter-country adoption, Sexual exploitation, Children and armed conflict, and Indigenous children. These topics are contextualised with further chapters on the concept of childhood and children's rights, the international legal framework in which the Convention operates, and a substantive chapter on the Convention itself. This fourth edition has been updated and revised, including a new chapter dealing with issues arising from childhood in the age of unprecedented digital technological advancements, a crucial issue for childhood experiences in modern times. This edition also includes new case studies, recent legal developments in the field of international child law, and inclusion of broader scholarship to capture diverse views on international law and child law. The aim of this book is to provide the reader with an accessible, informed, critical, and scholarly account of the international law framework relating to children. Drawing on a range of legal and other disciplines, this book remains a valuable resource for those in the course of study and research in this area.
