Politics In New Guinea Traditional And In The Context Of Change Some:

Kastom, property and ideology Siobhan McDonnell, Matthew Allen, Colin Filer, 2017-03-22 The relationship between customary land tenure and modern forms of landed property has been a major political issue in the Spearhead states of Melanesia since the late colonial period and is even more pressing today as the region is subject to its own version of what is described in the international literature as a new land rush or land grab in developing countries This volume aims to test the application of one particular theoretical framework to the Melanesian version of this phenomenon which is the framework put forward by Derek Hall Philip Hirsch and Tania Murray Li in their 2011 book Powers of Exclusion Land Dilemmas in Southeast Asia Since that framework emerged from studies of the agrarian transition in Southeast Asia the key question addressed in this volume is whether land transformations in Melanesia are proceeding in a similar direction or whether they take a somewhat different form because of the particular nature of Melanesian political economies or social institutions The contributors to this volume all deal with this question from the point of view of their own direct engagement with different aspects of the land policy process in particular countries Aside from discussion of the agrarian transition in Melanesia particular attention is also paid to the growing problem of land access in urban areas and the gendered nature of landed property relations in this region

Feast, Famine or Fighting? Richard J. Chacon, Rubén G. Mendoza, 2017-01-20 The advent of social complexity has been a longstanding debate among social scientists Existing theories and approaches involving the origins of social complexity include environmental circumscription population growth technology transfers prestige based and interpersonal group competition organized conflict perennial wartime leadership wealth finance opportunistic leadership climatological change transport and trade monopolies resource circumscription surplus and redistribution ideological imperialism and the consideration of individual agency However recent approaches such as the inclusion of bioarchaeological perspectives prospection methods systematically investigated archaeological sites along with emerging technologies are necessarily transforming our understanding of socio cultural evolutionary processes In short many pre existing ways of explaining the origins and development of social complexity are being reassessed Ultimately the contributors to this edited volume challenge the status quo regarding how and why social complexity arose by providing revolutionary new understandings of social inequality and socio political evolution

Tribale Kriege Jürg Helbling, 2006-11-06 Im Unterschied zu Kriegen zwischen Staaten und zu Bürgerkriegen werden tribale Kriege zwischen Dorfgemeinschaften ausgetragen die noch nicht oder nicht mehr von einer staatlichen Zentralgewalt kontrolliert werden Anhand von Beispielen unter anderem aus Neuguinea Amazonien und

Ostafrika untersucht Jörg Helbling die Verlaufsformen und Ursachen dieser Kriege. Wird Krieg durch angeborene Aggressivität des Menschen durch kulturelle Faktoren oder durch Erziehung verursacht? Steckt die Konkurrenz um knappe Ressourcen dahinter oder werden Kriege von politisch ambitionierten Führern angezettelt? Helbling entwickelt eine alternative Theorie des tribalen Krieges, die von Theorien der internationalen Beziehungen und der Spieltheorie inspiriert ist.
