Cancer Pathogenesis: Molecular and Cellular Mechanisms of Tumor evolution, Therapy-Resistance and Immune Evasion
Sambhavi Animesh, Ajinkya Revandkar , Lucio Miele,2025-01-24 Cancer pathogenesis is a pathophysiological understanding of how molecular and cellular events play a causal role in transforming tumors from benign to malignant state This often involves genetic epigenetic proteomic and metabolic alterations within solid tumors and blood cells Besides cell intrinsic factors tumors are also composed of stromal fibroblasts blood vessel and immune cells that are also implicated in tumor progression Immune evasion is another critical step of the cancer progression wherein tumor cells modulate host immune system to escape from getting destroyed Additionally stemness in cancer cells is another acquired intrinsic ability of self renewal differentiation heterogeneity and survival Such properties give an edge to the tumors to maintain malignancy and confers treatment resistance Most anti cancer therapies that trigger cell death senescence and or dormancy and may backfire into maladaptive responses that lead to therapy resistance and promote tumor progression Together these highlight the most challenging issues of cancer pathogenesis This Research Topic aims to summarize the cutting edge research for the broader understanding of the molecular and cellular determinants involved in cancer initiation and progression and their impact on the anti tumor therapies and immune evasion In summary this topic will help researchers to gain a more comprehensive understanding of the cancer pathogenesis which can be used further in the development of novel therapies
