Re Constructing The Literary Texts In Transmission:

Re-Constructing the Book Maureen Bell, Shirley Chew, Simon Eliot, 2019-01-15 This title was first published in 2001 Literary critics textual editors and bibliographers and historians of publishing have hitherto tended to publish their research as if in separate fields of enquiry The purpose of this volume is to bring together contributions from these fields in a dialogue rooted in the transmission of texts Arranged chronologically so as to allow the use of individual sections relevant to period literature courses the book offers students and teachers a set of essays designed to reflect these approaches and to signal their potential for fruitful integration Some of the essays answer the demand Show me what literary critics or textual editor or book historians do and how they do it and stand as examples of the different concerns methodologies and strategies employed Others draw attention to the potential of the approaches in combination Re-constructing the Book Maureen Bell, 2001 Literary critics textual editors and bibliographers and historians of publishing have hitherto tended to publish their research as if in separate fields of enquiry The purpose of this volume is to bring together contributions from these fields in a dialogue rooted in the transmission of texts The book is intended as both an argument for and demonstration of the potential of this realignment of literary criticism textual criticism and the history of the book Arranged chronologically so as to allow the use of individual sections relevant to period literature courses the book offers students and teachers a set of essays designed to reflect these approaches and to signal their potential for fruitful integration Reconstructing Camelot Michael Glencross, 1995 This book examines French Romantic medievalism through one of its many manifestations the treatment of the Arthurian legends Examining works of historiography and literary history as well as literary texts proper it assesses the place of the Arthurian material in French culture in the period up to 1860 the date of publication of Edgar Quinet's Merlin l'enchanteur In so doing it reveals key features of French Romanticism and traces the origins of some of the problems and contradictions which still affect the practice of medieval studies the study of medieval literature and the representation of the Middle Ages The author argues that the depiction of Arthurian legends in French Romantic writing discloses some of the underlying ideological positions of the movement such as the division between liberal and royalist views of the Middle Ages and the construction of a French national identity He also explores the developing tensions between the interests of a general literary public and the ambitions of scholars seeking to define and promote medieval literature as an emerging field of study In addition to scholars such as Claude Fauriel Paulin Paris and Francisque Michel other important figures in French Romanticism are considered including Edgar Quinet and Michelet Reconstructing Early Buddhism Roderick S. Bucknell, 2022-10-20 Buddhist origins and discussion of the Buddha's teachings are amongst the most controversial and contested areas in the field This bold and authoritative book tackles head on some of the key questions regarding early Buddhism and its primary canon of precepts Noting that the earliest texts in Pali Sanskrit and Chinese belong to different Buddhist schools Roderick S Bucknell addresses the development of these writings during the period of oral transmission between the Buddha's death and their initial redaction in the first century BCE. A meticulous comparative analysis reveals the likely original path of meditative practice applied and taught by Gautama. Fresh perspectives now emerge on both the Buddha himself and his Enlightenment. Drawing on his own years of meditative experience as a Buddhist monk, the author offers here remarkable new interpretations of advanced practices of meditation as well as of Buddhism itself. It is a landmark work in Buddhist Studies.

Reconstructing Woman Dorothy Kelly, 2010-11. Reconstructing Woman explores a scenario common to the works of four major French novelists of the nineteenth century: Balzac, Flaubert, Zola, and Villiers. In the texts of each author, a new Pygmalion as Balzac calls one of his characters turns away from a real woman he has loved or desired and prefers instead his artificial re-creation of her. All four authors also portray the possibility that this simulacrum, which replaces the woman, could become real. The central chapters examine this plot and its meanings in multiple texts of each author, with the exception of the chapter on Villiers in which only L'Ève future is considered. The premise is that this shared scenario stems from the discovery in the nineteenth century that humans are transformable. Because scientific innovations play a major part in this discovery, Dorothy Kelly reviews some of the contributing trends that attracted one or more of the authors: mesmerism, dissection, transformism, and evolution; new understandings of human reproduction; spontaneous generation; puericulture; the experimental method. These ideas and practices provided the novelists with a scientific context in which controlling, changing, and creating human bodies became imaginable. At the same time, these authors explore the ways in which not only bodies but also identity can be made. In close readings, Kelly shows how these narratives reveal that linguistic and coded social structures shape human identity. Furthermore, through the representation of the power of language to do that, shaping the authors envision that their own texts would perform that function. The symbol of the reconstruction of woman thus embodies the fantasy and desire that their novels could create or transform both reality and their readers in quite literal ways. Through literary analyses, we can deduce from the texts just why this artificial creation is a woman.

Reconstructing the Society of Ancient Israel Paula M. McNutt, 1999-01-01. In this volume, Paula McNutt provides a synthesis of recent research on the nature and development of the society of ancient Israel. Focusing on Israelite history from the tribal period through the time of Persian domination, McNutt employs a social scientific perspective to examine recent reconstructions of the social and cultural contexts that nurtured the literature of the Hebrew Bible. She also offers a helpful overview of the components and dynamics of ancient Israelite society. By investigating the intricate social processes that sustained the society of ancient Israel, McNutt enables the reader to discern the forces at work during key periods of transition and transformation in early Israelite history.
