Art Discovery and Censorship in the Centre William Rappard of Geneva Edmundo Murray, 2023-06-15 This is a history of the Centre William Rappard the first building designed to house an international organization in Geneva and its art treasures For nearly a century these works of art and decorations offered by governments and institutions encouraged smooth diplomacy and fluent international negotiations in the fields of labour trade and human rights On occasions hidden removed and forgotten and then recovered and restored the history of the artworks in the Centre William Rappard represents the confrontation between art as diplomatic device and aesthetic experience between representation and represented between censorship and free expression Even before its opening in 1926 the building started receiving works from the International Labour Organization member governments Some pieces such as the Geneva Window by Harry Clarke never arrived in Geneva since it was censored by the Irish government The Spanish Pygmalion by Eduardo Chicharro y Ag era was latter covered for its female nudity and remained hidden during decades Later in the 1970s the secretariat of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade occupied the building and requested the removal of other major works This was reversed in the 2010s by its successor the World Trade Organization when many artworks were rediscovered restored and placed in their original locations However new values in the world scene contributed to further changes in the building art including the removal of Claude Namy s caricature In GATT We Trust from public view in 2019 Art in the Centre William Rappard continues to speak to the viewer after waves of positive reception censorship and recovery

Modern Irish Writers Alexander G. Gonzalez, 1997-08-26 While the Irish Literary Revival began around 1885 and ended somewhere between 1925 and 1940 the Irish Renaissance has continued to the present day and shows no sign of abating The period has produced some of the most important and influential figures in Irish literature some of whom are counted among the world s greatest authors The Revival saw a reestablishment of Ireland s literary connections with its Celtic heritage and writers such as William Butler Yeats and Lady Gregory drew heavily on the myths and legends of the past James Joyce boldly reshaped the novel and wrote short fiction of enduring value Contemporary Irish writers continue to be leading figures and include such authors as Brian Frigl Seamus Heaney and Eavan Boland Included in this reference book are alphabetically arranged entries for more than 70 modern Irish writers including Samuel Beckett William Trevor Patrick Kavanagh Medbh McGuckian Sean O Casey J M Synge and Nuala Ni Dhomhnaill Entries are written by expert contributors and reflect a broad range of perspectives Each entry contains a brief biography that summarizes the author s career a discussion of major works and themes an overview of the author s critical reception and a bibliography of primary and secondary works An introductory essay reviews the large and growing body of scholarship on modern Irish literature while an extensive bibliography concludes the volume

Revolutionary Lives Lauren Arrington, 2020-08-04 Constance Markievicz 1868 1927 born to the privileged Protestant upper class in Ireland embraced suffrage before scandalously leaving for a bohemian life in London and then Paris She would become known for her roles as politician and Irish revolutionary nationalist Her husband Casimir Dunin Markiewicz 1874 1932 a painter playwright and theater director was a Polish noble who would eventually join the Russian imperial army to fight on behalf of Polish freedom during World War I Revolutionary Lives offers the first dual biography of these two prominent European activists and artists Tracing the Markiewicz entwined and impassioned trajectories biographer Lauren Arrington sheds light on the avant garde cultures of London Paris and Dublin and the rise of anti imperialism at the turn of the twentieth century Drawing from new archival material including previously untranslated newspaper articles Arrington explores the interests and concerns of Europeans invested in suffrage socialism and nationhood Unlike previous works Arrington's book brings Casimir Markiewicz into the foreground of the story and explains how his liberal imperialism and his wife's socialist republicanism arose from shared experiences even as their politics remained distinct Arrington also shows how Constance did not convert suddenly to Irish nationalism but was gradually radicalized by the Irish Revival Correcting previous depictions of Constance as hero or hysteric Arrington presents her as a serious thinker influenced by political and cultural contemporaries Revolutionary Lives places the exciting biographies of two uniquely creative and political individuals and spouses in the wider context of early twentieth century European history

Cahalan, 1988 "Since O'Casey" and Other Essays on Irish Drama Robert Hogan, 1983 In this collection of lucid essays that cover eighty years of modern Irish drama Robert Hogan writes about the major Irish dramatists of the 20th century and their impact on audiences and on other playwrights as well as considering the works themselves In them he uses a variety of critical techniques ranging from biography to studies of influence structure and dialogue to history and anecdote and the ill treatment of several sacred cows In addition to essays on such giants as Synge O'Casey and Beckett the book deals with more neglected figures such as W J Lawrence and the still insufficiently appreciated George Fitzmaurice and Denis Johnston. It also presents a full critical survey of the years 1963-83 in which exciting writers like Brian Friel, Hugh Leonard and John B. Keane made their mark. The author's style and varied ways of dealing with the subjects make this volume particularly enjoyable as well as informative reading.
