The Politics of the Global Himadeep Muppidi, 2004 Though presented often as an objective process globalization is frequently analyzed from subjective perspectives that are closed to their own historical and geographical specificity Refusing the false choice between objectivity and subjectivity Himadeep Muppidi considers the production of the global as an intersubjective process involving the interplay of meanings identities and practices from historically different locations Muppidi illustrates how the politics of globalization are played out in two multicultural democracies India and the United States particularly rich examples given the increasing interactions between them in the areas of global economy and security Although they differ in their approaches to worldwide regulation of weapons of mass destruction India and the United States cooperate in opposing terrorism Treating globalization as an intersubjective process reveals the different political possibilities e.g. colonial coercion postcolonial ambivalence and postcolonial co-optation that are opened by global relays of meanings identities and power Muppidi concludes by exploring a variety of spaces and strategies for resisting the colonization of the global

The SAGE Handbook of Conflict Resolution Jacob Bercovitch, Victor Kremenyuk, I William Zartman, 2008-12-03 The SAGE Handbook of Conflict Resolution demonstrates the range of themes that constitute modern conflict resolution It brings out its key issues methods and dilemmas through original contributions by leading scholars in a dynamic and expanding field of inquiry This handbook is exactly what it sets out to be an indispensable tool for teaching research and practice in conflict resolution Peter Wallensteen Professor of Peace and Conflict Research Uppsala University and University of Notre Dame Bercovitch Kremenyuk and Zartman are among the most important figures in the conflict resolution field They have pieced together with the help of more than 35 colleagues from numerous countries a state of the art review of the sources of international conflict available methods of conflict management and the most difficult challenges facing the individuals and organizations trying to guide us through these conflict ridden times The collection is brimming with penetrating insights trenchant analyses compelling cases and disciplined speculation They help us understand both the promise of as well as the obstacles to theory building in the new field of conflict resolution Lawrence Susskind Professor and Director of the MIT Harvard Public Disputes Program The last three sentences of this persuasive book We conclude this volume more than ever convinced that conflict resolution is not just possible or desirable in the current international environment It is absolutely necessary Resolving conflicts and making peace is no longer an option it is an intellectual and practical skill that we must all possess If you are part of that we intellectually or professionally you will find this book a superb companion Thomas C Schelling Professor Emeritus Harvard University and University of Maryland Conflict resolution is one of the fastest growing academic fields in the world today Although it is a relatively young discipline having emerged as a specialized field in the 1950 s it has rapidly grown into a self contained vibrant interdisciplinary field The SAGE Handbook of Conflict Resolution brings together all the conceptual methodological and substantive elements of conflict resolution into one volume of over 35 specially commissioned chapters The Handbook is designed to reflect where the field is today by drawing on the contributions of experts from different fields presenting in a systematic way the most recent research and practice Jacob Bercovitch is Professor of International Relations and Fellow of the Royal Society at the University of Canterbury in Christchurch New Zealand Victor Kremenyuk is deputy director of the Institute for USA and Canada Studies Russian Academy of Sciences Moscow He is also a research associate at IIASA I William Zartman is Jacob Blaustein Professor of Conflict Resolution and International Organization at the Nitze School of Advanced International Studies of Johns Hopkins University

How Peace Operations Work Jeni Whalan, 2013-12-12 This book proposes a new approach to studying the effectiveness of peace operations It asks not whether peace operations work or why but how when a peace operation achieves its goals what causal processes are at work By discovering how peace operations work this new approach offers five distinctive contributions First it studies peace operations through a local lens examining their interactions with actors in host societies rather than their genesis in the politics and institutions of the international realm In doing so it highlights the centrality of local compliance and cooperation to a peace operation s effectiveness Second the book structures a framework for explaining how peace operations can shape the behaviour of local actors in order to obtain greater cooperation That framework distinguishes three dimensions of a peace operation s power coercion inducement and legitimacy and illuminates their effects The third contribution is to highlight the contribution of local legitimacy to a peace operation s effectiveness and identify the means by which an operation can be locally legitimized Fourth the new power legitimacy framework is applied to study two peace operations in depth the United Nations Transitional Authority in Cambodia UNTAC and the Regional Assistance Mission to Solomon Islands RAMSI Finally the book concludes by examining the implications of this new approach for practice and identifying a set of policy reforms to help peace operations work better The book argues that peace operations work by influencing the decisions and behaviour of diverse local actors in host societies Peace operations work better that is achieve more of their objectives at lower cost when they receive high quality local cooperation It concludes that peace operations are more likely to attain such cooperation when they are perceived locally to be legitimate

Language, Agency, and Politics in a Constructed World François Debrix, 2003-05-29 Language matters in international relations Constructivists have contributed the insight that global politics is shaped by the way agents narrate history and produce discourses about themselves and about the world This insight has induced a profound reexamination of assumptions in the study of international relations The contributors to this volume examine Part I the critical linguistic discursive techniques of postmodernists and constructivists and apply them Part II to international relations

Terrorism and the Politics of Naming Michael Bhatia, 2013-10-18 Previously published as a special issue of Third World Quarterly this volume assesses the nature power role and function of names in global politics and the international media Names are not objective they accrue subjective associations for example Terrorist has a very different connotation to Freedom fighter The contributors seek the truth beneath the names assigned in an effort to remove the obscurity created by the power of the politics of naming to the reality of the situation taking examples from Al Qaeda Russia's demonization of the Chechens and naming in the Israeli Palestine conflict among other important contemporary debates Terrorism and the Politics of Naming makes a substantial contribution towards elucidating the power of naming in the discourse of conflict and will be of great interest to students and scholars of political philosophy political theory and politics and the media

Visual Politics and North Korea David Shim, 2013-10-15 In the realm of international relations there are seemingly few states like North Korea Whether it is the country's human rights situation its precarious everyday life or its so called foreign policy of coercion and nuclear brinkmanship no matter what this pariah nation says and does it affects the state and stability of regional and global politics But what do we know about North Korea and how do we come to know it This book argues that visual imagery plays a decisive role in this operation By discussing two exemplary areas everyday photography and satellite imagery the book takes into account the role of images in the way that particular issues related to North Korea are understood in contemporary geopolitics Images work They do something by evoking a particular perspective of what is shown in them allowing only specific ways of seeing and knowing In this sense images are deeply political Individual methodological usages in the book can provide a procedural basis from which to start or rethink further studies on visuality both in IR and beyond It also opens an innovative path for future studies on East Asia making the book attractive to a range of specialists and thus holding an appeal beyond the boundaries of a single discipline

At War's End Roland Paris, 2004-05-24 All fourteen major peacebuilding missions launched between 1989 and 1999 shared a common strategy for consolidating peace after internal conflicts immediate democratization and marketization Transforming war shattered states into market democracies is basically sound but pushing this process too quickly can have damaging and destabilizing effects The process of liberalization is inherently tumultuous and can undermine the prospects for stable peace A more sensible approach to post conflict peacebuilding would seek first to establish a system of domestic institutions that are capable of managing the destabilizing effects of democratization and marketization within peaceful bounds and only then phase in political and economic reforms slowly as conditions warrant Peacebuilders should establish the foundations of effective governmental institutions prior to launching wholesale liberalization programs Avoiding the problems that marred many peacebuilding operations in the 1990s will require longer lasting and ultimately more intrusive forms of intervention in the domestic affairs of these states This book was first published in 2004
