Private Press Books, 1978      Mass Media and Democratisation in Cameroon in the Early 1990s Francis B. Nyamnjoh, 2011 In the on going democratic debate the Cameroonian media have not played the role of objective mediators A one party logic of which government opposition and the public are guilty has prevented Cameroonian multipartyism from addressing the major issue that of how best to bring about real participatory democracy So far democracy has served mainly as a face powder an empty concept or slogan devoid of concrete meaning used to justify reactionary propaganda by the ruling party and its acolytes on the one hand and revolutionary propaganda by the opposition and some pressure groups on the other This polarisation in the Cameroonian political arena corresponds to a similar polarisation in the Cameroonian media One can identify two main political tendencies in the media first there are those who argue that all the government does is good and in the best interest of Cameroon and that the radical opposition is void of patriots and motivated only by selfish regional or ethnic self interests These comprise the publicly owned government controlled electronic and print media on the one hand and pro government privately owned newspapers on the other Second there are those who claim that all the radical opposition does or stands for is in the best interest of Cameroon and that the government and its allies are only motivated by a stubborn love of power and other selfish pursuits These comprise the bulk of the privately owned papers The media are polarised into two diametrically opposing camps each claiming to know and represent the best interests of the Cameroonian people      Collective Rights and the Cultural Identity of the Roma Claudia Tavani, 2012-09-03 Using Italy and the Roma as a case study this book proves that non discrimination provisions are not sufficient to protect the cultural identity of minorities a system encompassing also the use of collective rights is better suited for this purpose      Media Ownership in Africa in the Digital Age Winston Mano, Loubna El Mkaouer, 2022-10-24 Who owns the media and communications in Africa today and with what implications The book elegantly answers this urgent question by unpacking multiple dimensions of media ownership through rare and authoritative perspectives including both historical and contemporary digital developments It traces the evolving forms of ownership of media and communications in specific African contexts showing how they interact with broader changes in and outside the continent The book also shows how Big Techs such as Meta formerly known as Facebook are involved in a scramble for Africa's digital ecosystem and how their advance brings both opportunities and concerns about ownership and control The chapters analyse evolving forms of ownership and their implications on media concentration and democracy across Africa The book offers a nuanced account of how media ownership structures are in some instances captured with an ever growing and complex ecosystem that also has new opportunities for public interest media Offering a significant representation of the trends and diversity of existing media systems the book goes beyond the postcolonial geographical divisions of North and Sub Saharan Africa to highlight common patterns and significant similarities and differences of communications ownerships between and within African countries The contributors expose media and communications ownership patterns in Africa that are centralised and yet decentralising and in some cases battling resurging and globalising Small Printer ,1973 The Irish Book Lover Bruce Stewart,2004 The Irish Book Lover ranks as the longest lasting of all twentieth century Irish literary journals with a run of 227 issues published under the editorships of John S Crone 1909 25 Seamus O Casaide 1928 1930 and Colm O Lochlainn 1930 57 As a bibliographical and reviewing journal rather than a forum for commentary poetry or fiction it is less often consulted than literary journals such as the Irish Review or The Bell but nevertheless illustrates with great clarity some of the key changes in modern Irish culture and society between 1909 and 1957 While offering a unique source of information on older antiquarian books in Ireland The Irish Book Lover throws open a window on the attitude of the contemporary intelligentsia to works such as James Joyce s Portrait of the Artist and W B Yeats s responsibilities the novels of Liam O Flaherty and Kate O Brien or those of less remembered writers of the day such as Temple Lane and Mrs Thomas Concannon Though superseded by a variety of reviewing organs it gives an inspiring example to Irish book lovers in our own time The Princess Grace Irish Library has compiled a sampler of the journal here together with an index of the entire series The present volume also contains an introductory lecture given by Dr Nicholas Allen at the Irish Book Lover Symposium which was held in Monaco to commemorate the journal The symposium was also afforded a planned opportunity to survey existing resources for Irish literary history in the company of fifteen Irish publishers librarians teachers critics and last but not least owners of Irish studies websites The present volume is mirrored on the PGIL EIRData website giving access to a body of digitized text that embraces a wider selection of the long running journal together with an electronic index of its pages This new departure for Irish studies has been conducted by Dr Bruce Stewart under the terms of a contract between the Ireland Fund of Monaco to the University of Ulster under the aegis of the Princess Grace Irish Library Monaco

Media, Ritual and Identity James Curran,Tamar Liebes,2002-09-11 Media Ritual and Identity examines the role of the media in society its complex influence on democratic processes and its participation in the construction and affirmation of different social identities It draws extensively upon cultural anthropology and combines a commanding overview of contemporary media debates with a series of fascinating case studies ranging from political ritual on television to broadcasting in the third world The Routledge Companion to Alternative and Community Media Chris Atton,2015-05-15 The Routledge Companion to Alternative and Community Media provides an authoritative and comprehensive examination of the diverse forms practices and philosophies of alternative and community media across the world The volume offers a multiplicity of perspectives to examine the reasons why alternative and community media arise how they develop in particular ways and in particular places and how they can enrich our understanding of the broader media landscape and its place in society The 50 chapters present a range of theoretical and methodological positions and arguments to demonstrate the dynamic challenging and innovative thinking around the subject locating media theory and practice within the broader concerns of democracy citizenship social exclusion race class and gender In addition to research from the UK the US Canada Europe and Australia the Companion also includes studies from Colombia Haiti India South Korea and Zimbabwe enabling international comparisons to be made and also allowing for the problematisation of traditional often Western approaches to media studies By considering media practices across a range of cultures and communities this collection is an ideal companion to the key issues and debates within alternative and community media
