Problems Of Literary Reception:

Encyclopedia of Contemporary Literary Theory Irene Rima Makaryk, 1993-01-01 The last half of the twentieth century has seen the emergence of literary theory as a new discipline As with any body of scholarship various schools of thought exist and sometimes conflict within it I R Makaryk has compiled a welcome guide to the field Accessible and jargon free the Encyclopedia of Contemporary Literary Theory provides lucid concise explanations of myriad approaches to literature that have arisen over the past forty years Some 170 scholars from around the world have contributed their expertise to this volume Their work is organized into three parts In Part I forty evaluative essays examine the historical and cultural context out of which new schools of and approaches to literature arose The essays also discuss the uses and limitations of the various schools and the key issues they address Part II focuses on individual theorists It provides a more detailed picture of the network of scholars not always easily pigeonholed into the categories of Part I This second section analyses the individual achievements as well as the influence of specific scholars and places them in a larger critical context Part III deals with the vocabulary of literary theory It identifies significant complex terms places them in context and explains their origins and use Accessibility is a key feature of the work By avoiding jargon providing mini bibliographies and cross referencing throughout Makaryk has provided an indispensable tool for literary theorists and historians and for all scholars and students of contemporary criticism and culture General Problems of Literary History International Comparative Literature Association. Blodgett, Anthony George Purdy, 1988 Theoretical Issues in Literary History David Perkins, 1991 Literary history the dominant form of literary scholarship throughout the 19th century is currently recapturing the imaginations of a new generation of scholars eager to focus on the context of literature after a half century or more of close readings of isolated texts This book represents current thinking on some of the theoretical issues and dilemmas in the conception and writing of literary history expressed by a group of scholars from North America Europe and Australia Modern Critical Theory and Classical Literature Irene J. F. De Jong, J. John Patrick Sullivan, 1994 In recent decades the study of literature in Europe and the Americas has been profoundly influenced by modern critical theory in its various forms whether Structuralism or Deconstructionism Hermeneutics Reader Response Theory or Rezeptionsästhetik Semiotics or Narratology Marxist feminist neo historical psychoanalytical or other perspectives Whilst the value and validity of such approaches to literature is still a matter of some dispute not least among classical scholars they have had a substantial impact on the study both of classical literatures and of the mentalite of Greece and Rome In an attempt to clarify issues in the debate the eleven contributors to this volume were asked to produce a representative collection of essays to illustrate the applicability of some of the new approaches to Greek and Latin authors or literary forms and problems The scope of the volume was deliberately limited to literary investigation broadly construed of Greek and Roman authors Broader areas of the history and culture of the ancient world impinge in the essays but are not their central focus The volume also contains a separate bibliography offering for the first time a complete bibliography of classical studies which incorporate modern critical theory
