Procedures in Marriage and Family Therapy Gregory W. Brock, Charles P. Barnard, 1999 Most writing in marriage and family therapy presents readers with an established system of how to change families so as to relieve the symptoms of the stress they are suffering The reader is encouraged to follow a rigid system and adopt one particular theoretical basis for bringing about change The authors two hands on teachers offer something different They are sharing a clinical anthropologist s view of what happens when a family interacts with a professional who has dallied with the fads but finds success in doing what works The authors have gathered data and organized it into a multifaceted notebook with value for both the novice and more experienced therapist Hidden behind the descriptions of what to do and when readers can see the message of gentle care offered to families in pain Topics covered include first contact procedures assessment initial and middle stage treatment procedures procedures for challenging sessions and more A resource all clinicians can draw upon especially those early in their careers and those just beginning as marriage and family therapists Research Methods in Family Therapy Douglas H. Sprenkle, Fred P. Piercy, 2005-06-01 Fully revised and updated the second edition of this widely adopted text and professional reference reflects significant recent changes in the landscape of family therapy research Leading contributors provide the current knowledge needed to design strong qualitative quantitative and mixed method studies analyze the resulting data and translate findings into improved practices and programs Following a consistent format user friendly chapters thoroughly describe the various methodologies and illustrate their applications with helpful concrete examples Among the ten entirely new chapters in the second edition is an invaluable research primer for beginning graduate students Other new chapters cover action and participatory research methods computer aided qualitative data analysis feminist autoethnography performance methodology task analysis cutting edge statistical models and more Advanced Methods in Family Therapy Research Richard B Miller, Lee N. Johnson, 2013-12-17 Research is vital in moving the field of family therapy forward but the myriad of possibilities inherent in working with systems and individuals can overwhelm even the most seasoned researcher. Advanced Methods in Family Therapy Research is the best resource to address the day to day questions that researchers have as they investigate couples and families and the best source for learning long term theory and methodology. The contributors of this volume share their wisdom on a wide variety of topics including validity concerns, measuring interpersonal process and relational change, dyadic data analysis demonstrated through a sample research study, mixed methods studies and recruitment and retention. The volume contains one of the most detailed descriptions of data collections and covers interviewing using questionnaires and observing brain activity. Also addressed are suggestions to meaningfully reduce cultural bias to conduct ethical research and in the Health Services Research chapter to examine interventions for clients in various income brackets. A separate ground breaking chapter also addresses psychophysiological research in a couple and family therapeutic context. As an added benefit readers will learn how to become informed consumers of journal articles and studies, how to produce quality publishable research and how to write fundable grant proposals. Each chapter provides a clear and detailed guide for students, researchers and professionals and as a whole Advanced Methods in Family Therapy Research advances the field by teaching readers how to provide evidence that marriage and family therapy not only relieves symptoms but also effects behavioral change in all family members.
