Network Propaganda Yochai Benkler, Robert Faris, Hal Roberts, 2018-09-17 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4.0 International licence It is free to read at Oxford Scholarship Online and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations Is social media destroying democracy Are Russian propaganda or Fake news entrepreneurs on Facebook undermining our sense of a shared reality A conventional wisdom has emerged since the election of Donald Trump in 2016 that new technologies and their manipulation by foreign actors played a decisive role in his victory and are responsible for the sense of a post truth moment in which disinformation and propaganda thrives Network Propaganda challenges that received wisdom through the most comprehensive study yet published on media coverage of American presidential politics from the start of the election cycle in April 2015 to the one year anniversary of the Trump presidency Analysing millions of news stories together with Twitter and Facebook shares broadcast television and YouTube the book provides a comprehensive overview of the architecture of contemporary American political communications Through data analysis and detailed qualitative case studies of coverage of immigration Clinton scandals and the Trump Russia investigation the book finds that the right wing media ecosystem operates fundamentally differently than the rest of the media environment The authors argue that longstanding institutional political and cultural patterns in American politics interacted with technological change since the 1970s to create a propaganda feedback loop in American conservative media This dynamic has marginalized centre right media and politicians radicalized the right wing ecosystem and rendered it susceptible to propaganda efforts foreign and domestic For readers outside the United States the book offers a new perspective and methods for diagnosing the sources of and potential solutions for the perceived global crisis of democratic politics

Online safety Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Culture, Media and Sport Committee, 2014-03-19 The Culture Media and Sport Committee's inquiry has focused on three disparate aspects of online content and behaviour all of which are of widespread concern illegal content especially images of child abuse harmful adult content being made freely available to children bullying and harassment on social media The Committee praises the work of the Child Exploitation and Online Protection CEOP Command now part of the new National Crime Agency and the Internet Watch Foundation but calls for more resources to be devoted to their valuable work All three elements of CEOP s mission education social care and criminal justice need to be actively pursued and publicised Tracing paedophiles who share images on peer to peer networks and the so called hidden internet continues to challenge both the police and the internet service providers Legal adult pornography is widely consumed but children should be protected from viewing that material Legal adult sites could restrict access by children in a number of ways Age verification is important and whilst filters may not be failsafe they continue to improve and are an important way of protecting children from harmful content Ofcom has an important role in monitoring internet content and advising the public on online safety and more needs to be done to signpost the advice and educational resources available to both parents and teachers Today one in five 12 16 year olds think being bullied online is part of life Social media providers should offer a range of prominently displayed options for and routes to reporting harmful content and communications
