The Economic Impact of Intercollegiate Athletics on Former Students Richard J. Cebula, Robert N. Fenili, James V. Koch, 2025-10-30 College graduates do not benefit economically from the intercollegiate athletic programs of their alma mater Students provide substantial funding for their institution's intercollegiate athletic programs via tuition and fees In fact a typical student is required to pay for such activities Will this financial burden paid for during undergraduate years help them in the real world Whether measuring the incomes earned by alumni their upward economic mobility or their record in paying off federal student loans there is no subsequent economic payoff to graduates of institutions that spend large sums of money on athletic programs And in all actuality evidence suggests that graduates of campuses with FBS big time football programs end up earning less than graduates of comparable
