The European Consortium for Mathematics in Industry ECMI was founded largely due to the driving energy of Michiel Hazewinkel on the 14th April 1986 in Neustadt Musbach in West Germany The founder signatories were A Bensoussan INRIA Paris A Fasano University of Florence M Hazewinkel CWI Amsterdam M Heilio Lappeenranta University Finland F Hodnett University of Limerick Ireland H Martens Norwegian Institute of Technology Trondheim S McKee University of Strathclyde Scotland H NeURzert University of Kaiserslautern Germany D Sundstrom The Swedish Institute of Applied Mathematics Stockholm A Tayler University of Oxford England and H Wacker University of Linz Austria The European Consortium for Mathematics in Industry is dedicated to a promote the use of mathematical models in Industry b educate industrial mathematicians to meet the growing demand for such experts c operate on a European scale ECMI is still a young organisation but its membership is growing fast Although it has still to persuade more industrialists to join ECMI certainly operates on a European scale and a flourishing postgraduate programme with student exchange has been underway for some time It is perhaps fitting that the first open meeting of ECMI was held at the University of Strathclyde in Glasgow Glasgow is and was the industrial capital of Scotland and was and arguably still is Britain s second city after London when this volume appears it will have rightly donned the mantle of the cultural capital of Europe

Modeling and Analysis of Linear Hyperbolic Systems of Balance Laws Krzysztof Bartecki, 2015-12-21 This monograph focuses on the mathematical modeling of distributed parameter systems in which mass energy transport or wave propagation phenomena occur and which are described by partial differential equations of hyperbolic type The case of linear or linearized  $2 \times 2$  hyperbolic systems of balance laws is considered i e systems described by two coupled linear partial differential equations with two variables representing physical quantities depending on both time and one dimensional spatial variable Based on practical examples of a double pipe heat exchanger and a transportation pipeline two typical configurations of boundary input signals are analyzed collocated wherein both signals affect the system at the same spatial point and anti collocated in which the input signals are applied to the two different end points of the system The results of this book emerge from the practical experience of the author gained during his studies conducted in the experimental installation of a heat exchange center as well as from his research experience in the field of mathematical and computer modeling of dynamic systems The book presents valuable results concerning their state space transfer function and time domain representations which can be useful both for the open loop analysis as well as for the closed loop design The book is primarily intended to help professionals as well as undergraduate and postgraduate students involved in modeling and automatic control of dynamic systems
