Business Basics for Veterinarians Lowell J. Ackerman, 2002 While many veterinarians choose to believe that expertise in medicine necessarily precludes having business sense nothing could be further from the truth In fact business and medicine are both evidence based disciplines with much in common When a patient is sick we use standard algorithms to determine the most likely causes and run appropriate diagnostic tests We do the same thing with a business that is in failing health We might run an inventory audit instead of a radiograph or look at financial statements rather than laboratory results but the problem solving approach is the same Once a medical problem is unearthed we prescribe appropriate treatment The same holds for businesses A practice may not need an antibiotic injection but an infusion of capital might be just what the doctor orders for an outdated facility Finally once the problem is corrected we periodically monitor the patient with wellness exams assuring continued health Businesses are no different We continue to take their vital signs benchmark them against established normals and make sure that they continue on a healthful trend What could possibly be a more natural extension of expertise than applying the same care to practice management as patient management It's Your Time Donna McCaw, 2017-01-02 According to retirement expert Donna McCaw successful retirees approach their retirement the way an experienced outdoors person approaches a canoe trip by over preparing and then going with the flow Like a canoe trip retirement can be both safe and exciting and retirement expert Donna McCaw shows readers how in this practical and entertaining book now fully revised and updated It's Your Time focuses on retirement advice for Canadians but its principles are applicable to retirees anywhere McCaw shows how you can plan the retirement that fits you how you can enter this fulfilling time of your life with confidence and flexibility prepared for some pleasant surprises It's Your Time gives you a heads up in the areas of GETTING STARTED The emotional issues you need to consider before you make the leap into retirement FINANCES The importance of knowing the financial facts about retirement including your current worth and your cash flow now and during the stages of retirement HEALTH AND WELLNESS The top health issues affecting women and men and how to prevent or manage them understanding the aging process the financial considerations of health care LIFESTYLE Passive vs active leisure and the value of volunteering RELATIONSHIPS The importance of keeping in touch with family and friends and understanding the next steps for your relationships TRANSITIONS Considerations for managing the first year of retirement how some retirees revoke relocate and regenerate the secrets of the successfully retired The author concludes her one stop guide with a section of resources to help you plan for what is truly your time your retirement years Donna McCaw B A M Ed retired at age fifty four after a career in education and counseling at high schools and colleges and with Adult Education programs She is a speaker and workshop presenter on Retirement Readiness Retirement Planning for Women and other topics Her writing and presentations are straightforward down to earth and accessible as well as spirited and fun Donna lives in Elora Ontario Kiplinger's Personal Finance, 2007-09 The most trustworthy source of information

Managing School Districts for High Performance Stacey Childress, 2007 Managing School Districts for High Performance brings together more than twenty case studies and other readings that offer a powerful and transformative approach to advancing and sustaining the work of school improvement. At the center of this work is the concept of organizational coherence aligning organizational design, human capital management, resource allocation, and accountability and performance improvement systems to support an overarching strategy. This central idea provides a valuable conceptual framework for current and future school leaders. The case studies presented in Managing School Districts for High Performance grow out of the Public Education Leadership Project (PELP), a unique partnership between the Harvard Business School, the Harvard Graduate School of Education, and a network of urban school districts. This rich array of cases explores the managerial challenges districts face as they seek to ensure rich learning opportunities and high achievement for all students across a system of schools. This book of insightful case studies fills a void long felt by educational administrators in search of practical, real-world training tools. It will serve as a catalyst for the tough conversations district leaders need to have about achieving high-quality outcomes for all students. The Broad Center for the Management of School Systems has used many of these cases with great success, and we are excited that they are now compiled into a single collection. Dan Katzir, Managing Director, The Broad Foundation. This volume is not a treatise about how schools and districts should work. Rather, it provides a deep immersion in the real dilemmas involved in advancing school district reform. Anyone who works through these cases cannot help but come away with a more informed vision for change, a more reflective orientation about the interrelationships among the multiple tasks involved, and a more prudent grasp of what it takes to educate all children to high academic standards. The course of study presented by Managing School Districts for High Performance should be required professional education for anyone charged with advancing a coherent agenda of school improvement in our diverse, demanding, and rapidly changing society. Anthony S. Bryk, Spencer Professor of Organizational Studies, Stanford University. This set of case studies offers practitioners, policymakers, and scholars the opportunity to learn from the collective wisdom and real-life experiences of educational leaders involved in systemic transformation. Implementing coherent reform strategies designed to improve and sustain student performance often takes place in a vacuum. As a former urban superintendent, I believe that these selected educational case studies provide a compelling forum for shared experiential teaching and learning. Arlene Ackerman, Christian A. Johnson, Professor of Outstanding Educational Practice Teachers College, Columbia University. This collaboration between the Harvard Business School and the Harvard Graduate School of Education provides a set of analytical tools to address the most complex and challenging issues facing urban public schools. The contemporary case studies document actual choices and constraints and point to patterns and similarities across organizations, from urban schools to corporate environments.
