Search For Selfhood In Modern Literature:

The Search for Selfhood in Modern Literature M. Roston, 2001-09-05 The scientific achievements of the modern world failed to impress the leading writers of this century leaving them instead profoundly disturbed by a sense of lost values and of the insignificance of the individual in a universe seemingly indifferent to human concerns In The Search for Selfhood in Modern Literature Roston explores the strategies adopted by such mid century authors as Greene Salinger Osborne Baldwin and others in their attempt to cope with the spiritual vacuity strategies including the emergence of the anti hero and of literary existentialism and offer in the course of the investigation fascinatingly new insights into their work The Modernist Self in Twentieth-Century English Literature Dennis Brown, 1989-05-15 An exploration of how key modern writers challenged conventional ways of characterizing selfhood thus developing a discourse expressive of the subtleties of experience in a post Freudian world long before the self representation theories of the post structuralists and post modernists

Diseases and Disorders in Contemporary Fiction James Peacock, Tim Lustig, 2013-04-17 The essays in this collection address the current preoccupation with neurological conditions and disorders in contemporary literature by British and American writers The book places these fictional treatments within a broader cultural and historical context exploring such topics as the two cultures debate the neurological turn postmodernism and the post postmodern and responses to September 11th Considering a variety of materials including mainstream literary fiction the graphic novel popular fiction autobiographical writing film and television contributors consider the contemporary dimensions of the interface between the sciences and humanities developing the debate about the post postmodern as a new humanism or a return to realism and investigating questions of form and genre and of literary continuities and discontinuities Further the essays discuss contemporary writers attempts to engage the relation between the individual and the social looking at the relation between the syndrome syndrome referring to the prevalence in contemporary literature of neurological phenomena evident at the biological level and existing work in the field of trauma studies where explanations tend to have taken a psychoanalytical form allowing for perspectives that question some of the assumptions that have marked both these fields The current literary preoccupation with neurological conditions presents us with a new and distinctive form of trauma literature one concerned less with psychoanalysis than with the physical and evolutionary status of human beings Bibliographie der deutschen Sprach- und Literaturwissenschaft, 2002

Alice Walker Gerri Bates, 2005-10-30 Alice Walker born in Eatonton Georgia in 1944 overcame a disadvantaged sharecropping background blindness in one eye and the tense times of the Civil Rights Movement to become one of the world s most respected African American writers While attending both Spelman and Sarah Lawrence Colleges Walker began to draw on both her personal tragedies and those of her community to write poetry essays short stories and novels that would tell the virtually untold stories of oppressed African and African American women providing readers with hope and inspiring activism Perhaps best known for her novel The Color Purple 1982 which won the
