Russia in Search of Itself James H. Billington, 2004-03-19 Billington describes the contentious discussion occurring all over Russia and across the political spectrum He finds conflicts raging among individuals as much as between organized groups and finds a deep underlying tension between the Russians attempts to legitimize their new nominally democratic identity and their efforts to craft a new version of their old authoritarian tradition After showing how the problem of Russian identity was framed in the past Billington asks whether Russians will now look more to the West for a place in the common European home or to the East for a new Eurasian identity      Icon and Logos Daniel J. Modernism and the Spiritual in Russian Art Louise Hardiman,Nicola Kozicharow,2017-11-13 In 1911 Vasily Kandinsky published the first edition of On the Spiritual in Art a landmark modernist treatise in which he sought to reframe the meaning of art and the true role of the artist For many artists of late Imperial Russia a culture deeply influenced by the regime's adoption of Byzantine Orthodoxy centuries before questions of religion and spirituality were of paramount importance As artists and the wider art community experimented with new ideas and interpretations at the dawn of the twentieth century their relationship with the spiritual broadly defined was inextricably linked to their roles as pioneers of modernism This diverse collection of essays introduces new and stimulating approaches to the ongoing debate as to how Russian artistic modernism engaged with questions of spirituality in the late nineteenth to mid twentieth centuries Ten chapters from emerging and established voices offer new perspectives on Kandinsky and other familiar names such as Kazimir Malevich Mikhail Larionov and Natalia Goncharova and introduce less well known figures such as the Georgian artists Ucha Japaridze and Lado Gudiashvili and the craftswoman and art promoter Aleksandra Pogosskaia Prefaced by a lively and informative introduction by Louise Hardiman and Nicola Kozicharow that sets these perspectives in their historical and critical context Modernism and the Spiritual in Russian Art New Perspectives enriches our understanding of the modernist period and breaks new ground in its re examination of the role of religion and spirituality in the visual arts in late Imperial Russia Of interest to historians and enthusiasts of Russian art culture and religion and those of international modernism and the avant garde it offers innovative readings of a history only partially explored revealing uncharted corners and challenging long held assumptions

Russian Prose Writers After World War II Christine Rydel,2005 Whether the writers in this period described the war the Great Terror the gulag experience exile repression or simply everyday life in the city or in the country they generally turned to a major theme of Russian literature since the Revolution the fate of the individual human being in a mass state In the literature often the state won due to its power at other times individuals triumphed because of their moral convictions The same can be said of these writers

Russian Baptists and Orthodoxy, 1960-1990 Constantine Prokhorov,2014-01-14 Russian Baptists and the Orthodox Church have had a difficult and at times dramatic relationship over the past century and a half However the purpose of this thesis is to examine certain internal connections between these two Christian bodies Despite the evident dissimilarity in theology church practice and traditions there is common ground which has been largely unexplored A number of features inevitably brought them together such as living in the same country over a long period of time sharing a history and national roots responding to the same civic concerns and finally until recently using the same Russian Synodal translation of the Bible This thesis explores first of all the roots of the issue of Orthodox Baptist similarities and dissimilarities in the nineteenth century The remainder of the thesis focuses on 1960 to 1990 There is a chapter analyzing the way in which in significant areas Russian Baptist theology resembled Orthodox thinking This is followed by a study of church and sacraments which again shows that Russian Baptist approaches had echoes of Orthodoxy The thesis then explores Baptist liturgy showing the Orthodox elements that were present The same connections are then explored in the area of Russian Baptist communal spiritual traditions The examination of the Bible beliefs and behaviour also indicates the extent to which Russian Baptists mirrored Orthodoxy Finally there is an analysis of the popular piety of the Russian Baptists and the way in which they constructed an alternative culture The basic views of Russian Baptists between the 1960s and 1990 have been drawn from periodicals of the Russian Baptist communities and from interviews with pastors presbyters and church members who were part of these communities This often yields insights into primary theology which in relation to many issues differs from official Baptist declarations that tend to stress the more Protestant aspects of Russian Baptist life The aim of the thesis is to show that in a period in the history of the USSR when the division between the Western world and the Soviet bloc was marked there was a strong Eastern orientation among Russian Baptists This changed when the USSR came to an end Over a number of years there was mass emigration of Russian Baptists and in addition pro Western thinking gained considerable ground within the Russian Baptist community During the period examined here however it is possible to uncover a great deal of evidence of Russian Baptists participating in Orthodox theology spiritual mentality and culture
